Rumania in Mourning Over Axis-Dictated Partitioning

FOUR THRUSTS ARE MADE OVER LONDON WITHIN FEW HOURS

By The Associated Press

Germany replied to a direct attack of the RAF on the heart of Berlin today by sending over waves of warplanes in thrusts at London which sent residents of the British capital scurrying into air raid shelters three times in five hours.

Only one of four thrusts penetrated the city's defenses, the British reported.

The air ministry said at least six Nazi planes were shot down in the raids and three of its own were missing. The third alarm was London's 21st since Nazi planes struck at Croydon airport on the outskirts of the city August 15.

The bombs, dropped in the center of Berlin, were the first in its history, and fell as Nazi bombers roared and fought over London in a night raid that lasted six hours and 39 minutes, keeping citizens awake until nearly dawn.

ENEMY ROUTED EXPLOSIVES ARE IN BIG BATTLE DROPPED BY RAF AT COAST TOWN IN NAZI CAPITAL

By The Associated Press

London, Aug. 31.—The German air force, stepping up the beat of its siege-assaults on this island kingdom, thrust four times today against the London defenses and in one break-through, bombed a suburban town.

One of the raiders was reported by suburbanites to have fired machine-gun bursts at a crossroads heavily traveled by Saturday afternoon shoppers.

Otherwise the southeast coast, center of defense for fighting planes, anti-aircraft batteries and barrage balloons received the brunt of the attack. Most of the London-directed thrusts, the British said, were halted there in raging sky battles.

Nevertheless the British officially acknowledged attacks on an airfield in East Anglia and another near the Thames Estuary and admitted a "small number of casualties."

The effects of the attacks were minimized.

The fourth raid alarm came at 5:50 p. m. (11:50 a. m. EST) when a heavy German formation swung over London and her environs. The planes broke, wheeled and turned in the sky in defense patterns, singling out targets and trying to keep clear of anti-aircraft fire and British fighter planes.

The ministry acknowledged that three of Britain's fast-rising fighting planes were missing after the morning combat.

It was London's 21st alarm since (Turn To Page Nine)

Berlin, Aug. 31.—British warplanes bombed the center of Berlin for the first time in history early today with a rain of explosive and incendiary bombs, wrecking several apartment houses and business buildings, starting scattered fires in the southeast section and damaging the big Siemens Schuckert electrical equipment factory.

The 4,000,000 residents of the metropolitan area huddled in underground shelters for an hour and 37 minutes as the British planes, striking under cover of darkness, carried out their most extensive assault on the capital since the start of the war.

One high explosive bomb fell in the court yard of the fire department headquarters on Linden street, blasting a seven foot hole in a concrete floor and smashing windows in the neighborhood.

(The fire department headquarters on Linden street is only four blocks east of the Wilhelmstrasse, on which the Reichschancellery, the foreign office and other important government buildings are located.)

Authorities said damage to establishments which might be regarded as military objectives was extremely small.

A number of bombs also fell in the southeast section of the city causing large fires. This was the section bombed Thursday morning, when 10 civilians were killed and 28 injured.

The raiders were greeted with an ear-splitting barrage from (Turn To Page Nine)

Late Bulletins From War Zones

London, Aug. 31.—(P)—German bombers damaged a Royal Air Force airfield in eastern England today and attacked another near the Thames estuary, causing some damage, the air ministry announced.

London, Aug. 31.—(P)—The fourth air raid warning of the day for this British capital was sounded at 5:50 p. m. (11:50 a. m. EST).

Berlin, Aug. 31.—(P)—Authorized German sources reported 72 British planes shot down and 12 German planes missing in today's fierce air battles over England. "Surprise" attacks were carried out against a number of airports scattered throughout southeastern England and barracks and hangars were set afire, these sources said.

New York, Aug. 31.—(P)—Mackay Radio picked up a message today stating that the Belgian passenger ship Ville de Hasselt, a former American liner, had been torpedoed. No details were given in the message, which was sent by Station KGT in England.

London, Aug. 31.—(P)—The air ministry announced tonight that 25 German planes had been destroyed so far today during attacks on Britain.

Business Activities in Reserve District Maintain High Levels in July and August

Cleveland, O., Aug. 31.—(P)—Business activity in the Fourth Federal Reserve District, including most of western Pennsylvania, maintained "relatively high levels" during July and August, despite vacation layoffs and other seasonal factors, the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland reported today.

Chief among the activities aiding the strong upward movement was bituminous coal production, which increased sharply against the usual seasonal trend.

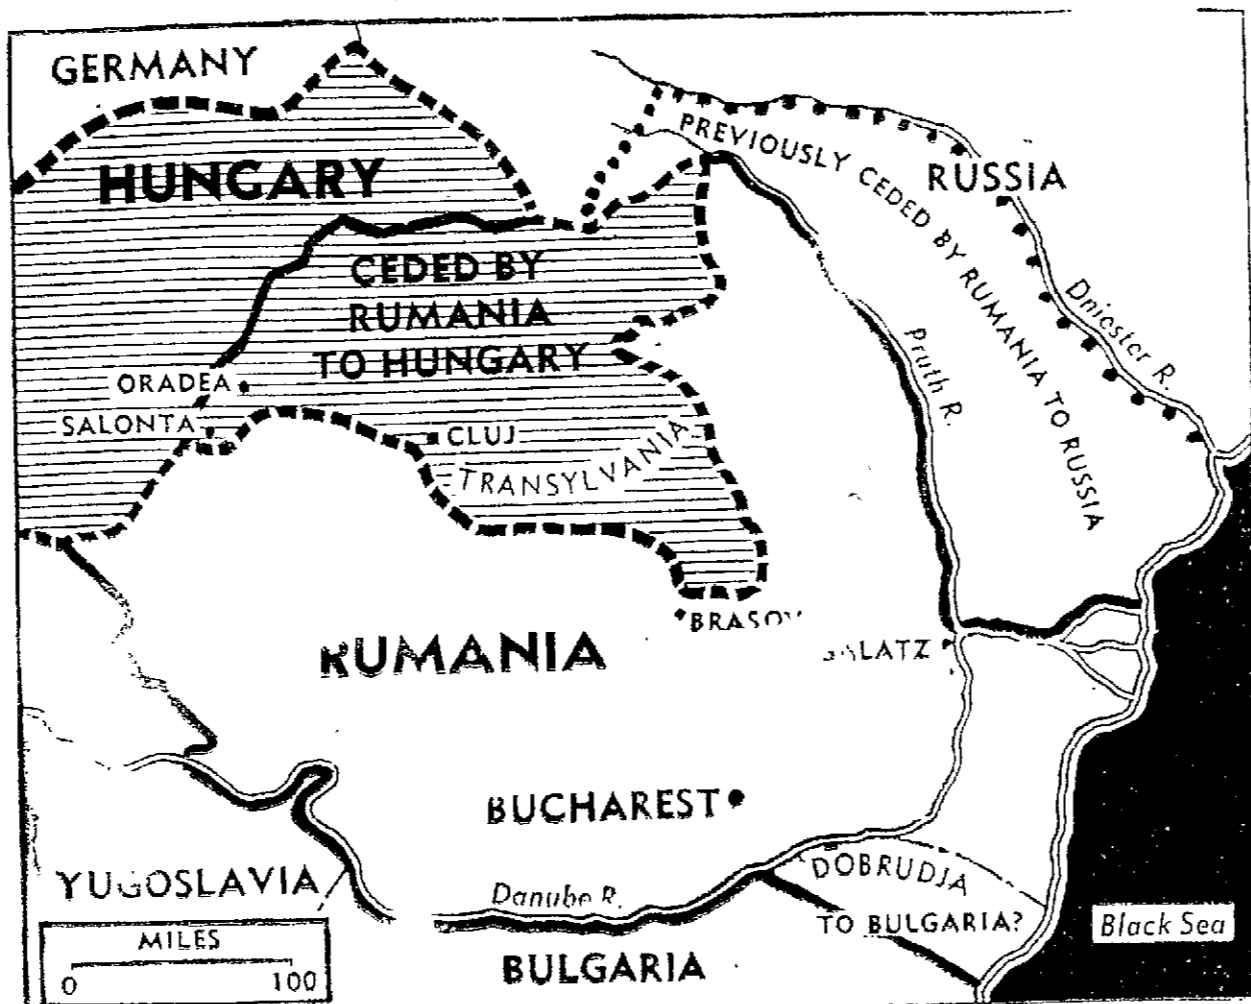

July output was reported as 14,810,000 net tons, the largest monthly production this year and the best July showing since 1930.

Postponement of minimum price schedules from Sept. 3 to Oct. 1 was expected "to delay buying by retail dealers who have not made their contracts for winter coverage," the bank commented.

Increased government spending for national defense, the report said, has been "reflected chiefly in operations at metal-working plants x x x."

Reporting that conditions in other manufacturing lines varied somewhat during July and early August, the bank said customers were "buying cautiously" but "there was some evidence that inventories were being built up x x x."

UNSCHEDULED DRAMA UNFOLDS ON WHITE WAY

New York, Aug. 31.—(P)—An unscheduled drama unfolded before last-minute theatre goers in the Times Square sector last night as a policeman and a gunman fought a death duel in the lobby of a playhouse.

The gunman, his identity a mystery, ended his own life with a bullet through the temple as he fell wounded from the officer's fire.

Petrolman Joseph Schecker and James Mitchell, negro porter at the Plymouth theatre between Broadway and Eighth avenue on 45th street, were wounded in the battle.

Customers hurrying for an 8:40 curtain ducked as bullets whistled over their heads.

Schecker, wounded in the left leg, told the story that a stranger approached him on his beat and whispered:

"That man (pointing) has a gun. He's going to shoot me."

The informant melted into the crowd and Schecker started in pursuit of a slight, mustached man who held a pistol. Both broke into a run. As they neared the Plymouth, dodging among parked autos, the gunman fired a shot that went wild, then dodged into the lobby.

Mitchell attempted to tackle the man, but lost his grip. The gunman fired again and wounded the porter in the jaw. As he fled the lobby he sent a bullet into Schecker's leg. The policeman hobbled to the shelter of a car (Turn To Page Nine)

CABINET POST BELIEVED FILLED

Washington, Aug. 31.—(P)—Administration quarters heard today that Frank C. Walker, 54-year-old New York attorney and theatre owner, had agreed to accept a presidential offer to succeed James A. Farley as postmaster general.

It was reported on high authority that the nomination of Walker, long a close friend of President Roosevelt, would be sent to the senate next week, probably on Wednesday, when the chief executive returns from his southern speaking trip and a defense inspection in West Virginia.

Walker, a native of Scranton, Pa., and one time treasurer of the Democratic national committee, is now president and general counsel of the Comerford Theatres, Inc.

Farley, who leaves the cabinet officially today to reenter private business, paid his last farewell calls on associates at the Post Office department and White House, and arranged to leave for New York.

ONE YEAR OF WAR IN EUROPE

By The Associated Press

British in first raid on heart of Berlin; Germans again raid London thus Europe's big belligerents marked the end of one year of war in Europe.

On September 1, 1939 Adolf Hitler, his territorial demands rebuffed, ordered his legions into Poland. Britain and France declared war on Germany two days later.

Since then France, Poland, Denmark, Norway, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg have fallen. Of the powers challenging Hitler, Britain alone remains in the fight.

The cost: In blood, estimated: 3,500,000 to 5,500,000 dead, wounded and missing.

In ships, merchant and naval: More than 3,075,655 tons.

In planes: The British say the Germans have lost more than 4,000; the Germans say British losses exceed 5,000. Neither side admits more than a mere fraction of these figures.

Newly Placed Orders For Airplane Motors Bring Prospects For Engine Production Abreast of Army and Navy Goal of 25,000 Fleet in Next Two Years; to Spread Strategic Defense Industries Over Inland Areas

GUARD BUREAU PLANS COMING MOBILIZATION

Washington, Aug. 31.—(P)—Newly placed orders for airplane engines, once called the bottleneck of the defense program—today brought prospects for engine production abreast of the army-navy goal of a 25,000-plane fleet in the next two years.

With new plant facilities already under construction and output steadily increasing, a survey of contracts showed that upwards of 40,000 motors for all types of planes have been ordered for delivery by mid-1942.

At the rate of 1½ engines per plane, figuring in multiple-motored craft, experts estimated that this total would be more than adequate for the goal of 25,000 planes of all types which defense officials have set for themselves by that time.

Other defense developments included disclosure by army officials of a plan for spreading strategic defense industries over five inland areas comprising roughly all those sections of the country 200 to 250 miles or more away from coasts or international boundaries.

And, Secretary Stimson sought to avoid a conflict of interests between manpower and industrial production needs by requesting release from the National Guard of all officers and men holding key (Turn To Page Nine)

WILLKIE WORKS ON SPEECHES FOR TOUR

Rushville, Ind., Aug. 31.—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, made few appointments today in order to devote the weekend to writing speeches for his western campaign tour.

He talked yesterday with De Witt M. Emery, of Akron, Ohio, who afterward said he was resigning as president of the National Small Businessmen's Association in order to campaign for Willkie.

Emery will form a Willkie-For-President small business men's committee.

The nominee in a statement expressed pleasure that Senator Shipstead (R-Minn.) had offered his support, and added, "every day there are new independent and Democratic supporters."

ERIE MAN FACES ARSON CHARGE

Erie, Aug. 31.—(P)—Police today accused a 20-year-old truck driver of breaking into four houses and setting fire to two garages in an attempt to force business men to hire him as a special policeman.

District Attorney Burton L. Laub said the garages were fired on August 10, the flames s, causing to a carpet cleaning plant and causing damage of $2,000.

The youth also broke into a state liquor store, an ice cream store and a beauty parlor, Laub said.

The district attorney announced he would charge the truck driver with arson and burglary, and that the youth's brother, 28, a special policeman, was held pending further investigation.

Laub said the youth asked business men in the section where the crimes occurred to engage him as a special policeman. He also said the youth, exhibiting his state police badge, scooped motorists on highway near the city and collected $12.75 from them for speeding.

Bridegroom Stricken Upon Leaving Church

Simpson, Pa., Aug. 31.—(P)—Dr. Ludwig J. Oblazney, Simpson physician, was stricken on with appendicitis today as he and his bride left St. Michael's church after their wedding.

The merriment and rice-throwing suddenly ceased as the bridegroom was rushed to a Cardiovascular hospital for an emergency operation. Physicians assured the bride, the former Wanda Fawcetti, her husband would recover and be able to take her on a delayed honeymoon.

CREW OF EIGHT LEAPS SAFELY FROM A BOMBER

Feat Described as "Unheard of" is Enacted When Large Army Plane Crashes in Rugged Wooded Country of Washington State

ALL ESCAPE INJURY

McChord Field, Wash., Aug. 31.—(P)—Eight men—the entire crew—parachuted to safety from a falling bomber, a feat described by an army officer as "unheard of."

The big Douglas B-18A bomber crashed in rugged wooded country north of the little western Washington town of Kalama yesterday after one of its two motors went dead.

"It's unheard of for so many men to successfully escape by parachute in such circumstances," Col. Carlyle H. Wash, McChord Field commander, said. The men suffered no injuries except minor bruises.

First Lieut. Jack N. Donohue, pilot, stuck to the plane until his comrades left. He suffered a bruised leg in escaping from the crazily gyrating ship.

"After losing altitude, I ordered the men to jump," he said. "They started jumping at 4,000 feet. I trimmed the plane so it would hold to a course and start for the back to get out. With only one motor it wouldn't hold to a steady course and it started spinning. I finally got out at about 1,500 feet."

The eight men landed over a mile of rugged country. Several of them were directed out of the woods by a 15-year-old farm boy's bound horn.

Capt. H. W. Pennington, McChord Field adjutant, said the officer of an investigating party (Turn To Page Nine)

PRESIDENT TO BE GUEST AT RECEPTION

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(P)—President Roosevelt busied himself with end-of-the-month government matters today, leaving unanswered Wendell L. Willkie's second demand that he disclose his views on conscription of private plants for defense.

The president wanted to clean up the work quickly and be free for an afternoon reception in his honor by Dutchess county friends and neighbors who are members of the Roosevelt Home Club. He will speak extemporaneously.

The president will leave early tomorrow for the south and two Labor Day speeches.

Aroused Population in Transylvania Carries on Incessant Demonstrations Of Protest to the Government's Capitulation With Frequent Anti-Fascist Outbreaks; Resignation Sharpens Tension in Bucharest

CHURCHBELLS CLANG AN INCESSANT DIRGE

Bucharest, Aug. 31.—(P)—The establishment of German air bases and headquarters for Nazi tank corps and motorized units on Rumanian soil was reported by government circles today to have been agreed upon at the Vienna conference yesterday which gave half of Rumania's Transylvania to Hungary.

German planes and soldiers had not put in an appearance in Rumania today, although the Rumanian general staff began demobilization of most of the Balkan kingdom's 1,200,000 men under arms.

Other plans were being rushed to vacate the northern Transylvanian area, ceded to Hungary by the Axis powers in an arbitration award. This must be completed in 15 days.

The aroused Rumanian population in Transylvania carried on incessant demonstrations of protest to the government's capitulation.

Thousands of Rumanian peasants thronged to Cluj, ancient Transylvanian capital. Here and elsewhere in Transylvania there were frequent Anti-Fascist outbreaks with Italy blamed largely for "selling out Rumania," as one speaker put it.

Many Transylvanian groups sent telegrams to King Carol declaring they would refuse to abide by the Vienna decision. An "armed defense corps" will be organized quickly, they said.

The tension in Bucharest itself was sharpened by the resignation of Minister of Public Health Vasile Novac, an Iron Guardist, who stepped out as an admission of his "grave error" in agreeing to the Vienna award.

In a dramatic address to King Carol and his 40 closest advisers at a Crown Council Novac declared he had no inkling Germany (Turn To Page Nine)

Snead shot four birdies and 14 pars and lost only one hole, the 11th, where McSpaden sank a four-footer for a birdie, his only one of the round.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), called into the conduct of the Democrats "un-sportsmanlike" in criticizing a man "who cannot answer here."

"You gentlemen have had your field day today," he said, "but Willkie will have his in November."

ONE YEAR OF WAR IN EUROPE

By The Associated Press

British in first raid on heart of Berlin; Germans again raid London—thus Europe's big belligerents marked the end of one year of war in Europe.

On September 1, 1939, Adolf Hitler, his territorial demands rebuffed, ordered his legions into Poland. Britain and France declared war on Germany two days later.

Since then France, Poland, Denmark, Norway, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg have fallen. Of the powers challenging Hitler, Britain alone remains in the fight.

The cost:
In blood, estimated: 3,300,000 to 5,300,000 dead, wounded and missing.

In ships, merchant and naval: More than 3,075,655 tons.
In planes: The British say the Germans have lost more than 4,000; the Germans say British losses exceed 5,000. Neither side admits more than a mere fraction of these figures.

Italy, who came in just before France surrendered, claims more than 300 planes destroyed, admits less than 60 losses of her own. Italian-British shipping losses likewise have been few.

In destruction: Here again there is a big spread between claims and admissions. Much of the low countries, northern France and Poland is devastated. But as for Germany and Britain, the censor's pencil largely has hidden definite details.

Germany reports that within 12 months Nazi airmen have dropped 5,000,000 bombs weighing more than 75,000 tons and enough to fill 50 American trains of 30 cars each.

The British say they, too, have dumped countless tons of bombs on Germany and the territory she has conquered.

Erie, Aug. 31.—(P)—Police today accused a 20-year-old truck driver of breaking into four houses and setting fire to two garages in an attempt to force business men to hire him as a special policeman.

District Attorney Burton R. Laub said the garages were fired on August 10, the flames spreading to a carpet cleaning plant and causing damage of $2,000 altogether. The youth also broke into a state liquor store, an ice cream store and a beauty parlor, Laub said.

The district attorney announced he would charge the truck driver with arson and burglary, and that the youth's brother, 28, a special policeman, was held pending further investigation.

Laub said the youth asked business men in the section where the crimes occurred to engage him as a special policeman. He also said the youth, exhibiting his brother's police badge, stopped motorists on highways near the city and collected $12.75 from them for speeding.

Bridegroom Stricken Upon Leaving Church

Simpson, Pa., Aug. 31.—(P)—Dr. Ludwig J. Oblazney, Simpson physician, was stricken with appendicitis today as he and his bride left St. Michael's church after their wedding.

The merriment and rice-throwing suddenly ceased as the bridegroom was rushed to a Carbondale hospital for an emergency operation. Physicians assured the bride, the former Wanda Fasceski, her husband would recover and be able to take her on a delayed honeymoon.

CREW OF EIGHT LEAPS SAFELY FROM A BOMBER

Feat Described as "Unheard of" is Enacted When Large Army Plane Crashes in Rugged Wooded Country of Washington State

ALL ESCAPE INJURY

McChord Field, Wash., Aug. 31.—(P)—Eight men—the entire crew—parachuted to safety from a falling bomber, a feat described by an army officer as "unheard of."

The big Douglas B-18A bomber crashed in rugged wooded country north of the little western Washington town of Kalama yesterday after one of its two motors went dead.

"It's unheard of for so many men to successfully escape by parachute in such circumstances," Col. Carlyle H. Wash, McChord Field commander, said. The men suffered no injuries except minor bruises.

First Lieut. Jack N. Donohew, pilot, stuck to the plane until his comrades left. He suffered a bruised leg in escaping from the crazily gyrating ship.

"After losing altitude, I ordered the men to jump," he said. "They started jumping at 4,000 feet. I trimmed the plane so it would hold to a course and started for the back to get out. With only one motor it wouldn't hold to a steady course and it started spinning. I finally got out at about 1,500 feet."

The eight men landed over a mile of rugged country. Several of them were directed out of the woods by a 15-year-old farm boy's hound hound.

Capt. H. W. Pennington, McChord Field adjutant, said the officer of an investigating party reported (Turn to Page Nine)

PRESIDENT TO BE GUEST AT RECEPTION

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(P)—President Roosevelt busied himself with end-of-the-month government matters today, leaving unanswered Wendell L. Willkie's second demand that he disclose his views on conscription of private plants for defense.

The president wanted to clean up the work quickly and be free for an afternoon reception in his honor by Dutchess county friends and neighbors who are members of the Roosevelt Home Club. He will speak extemporaneously.

The president will leave early tomorrow for the south and two Labor Day speeches.

Presidential Campaign in Full Swing As Far as Speakers in Senate Are Concerned

Washington, Aug. 31.—(P)—The 1940 presidential campaign was in full swing today as far as the Senate was concerned.

A round of Democratic speech-making on Wendell L. Willkie's views on "draft industry" legislation started it off yesterday, bringing Republican members to their feet in quick defense of their party's presidential candidate.

The industry proposal, written into the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill before the senate passed that measure Wednesday, had been characterized by Willkie as "revolutionary" and "potential dictatorship."

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), a sponsor of the provision, told the Senate he would debate the issue with Willkie "anytime, anywhere."

Democratic Leader Barkley read the names of the Republican senators who voted for the proposal and suggested that "when Willkie opens his campaign at Coffeyville, Kan., he debate this issue with Senator Capper (Kansas Republican) who voted for this amendment."

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), called the conduct of the Democrats "un-sportsmanlike" in criticizing a man "who cannot answer here."

"You gentlemen have had your field day today," he said, "but Willkie will have his in November."

PEASANTS THREATEN DEFIANCE

Aroused Population in Transylvania Carries on Incessant Demonstrations Of Protest to the Government's Capitulation With Frequent Anti-Fascist Outbreaks; Resignation Sharpens Tension in Bucharest

CHURCHBELLS CLANG AN INCESSANT DIRGE

By The Associated Press

Bucharest, Aug. 31.—The establishment of German air bases and headquarters for Nazi tank corps and motorized units on Rumanian soil was reported by government circles today to have been agreed upon at the Vienna conference yesterday which gave half of Rumania's Transylvania to Hungary.

German planes and soldiers had not put in an appearance in Rumania today, although the Rumanian general staff began demobilization of most of the Balkan kingdom's 1,300,000 men under arms.

Other plans were being rushed to vacate the northern Transylvania area, ceded to Hungary by the Axis powers in an arbitration award. This must be completed in 15 days.

The aroused Rumanian population in Transylvania carried on incessant demonstrations of protest to the government's capitulation.

Tens of thousands of Rumanian peasants flocked to Cluj, ancient Transylvania capital. Here and elsewhere in Transylvania there were frequent Anti-Fascist outbreaks with Italy blamed largely for "selling out Rumania," as one speaker put it.

Many Transylvanian groups sent telegrams to King Carol declaring they would refuse to abide by the Vienna decision. An "armed defense corps" will be organized quickly, they said.

The tension in Bucharest itself was sharpened by the resignation of Minister of Public Health Vasile Novanu, an Iron Guardist, who stepped out as an admission of his "grave error" in agreeing to the Vienna award.

In a dramatic address to King Carol and his 40 closest advisers at a Crown Council Novanu declared he had no inkling Germany (Turn to Page Nine)

SNEAD AND NELSON LEADING AT TURN

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 31.—(P)—Sam Snead shot a fine 33-69 in the rain to take a three-up lead over Harold (Jug) Muespaden at the half way point in their 36-hole semi final match of the PGA championships today.

Snead shot four birdies and 14 pars and lost only one hole, the 11th, where Muespaden sank a four-footer for a birdie, his only one of the round.

Hershey, Aug. 31.—(P)—A cloudburst that turned the fairways into rivers forced postponement of the semi-final matches in the P. G. A. tournament today after the first 18 holes had been completed. The second 18 will be played tomorrow, with the finals on Monday.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), called the conduct of the Democrats "un-sportsmanlike" in criticizing a man "who cannot answer here."

"You gentlemen have had your field day today," he said, "but Willkie will have his in November."

MAY DECIDE RATE CASE
Harrisburg Aug 31—(P)—A new order affecting rates charged by the People's Natural Gas Company of Pittsburgh may be handed down by the Public Utility Commission before January 1, Commissioner Frank Morgan predicted. The commission has set September 11, 12 and 13, at Pittsburgh, for what it hopes will be the final hearings. The superior court last spring sent the case back to the commission after the commission had refused to let the company put into effect a rate increase amounting to approximately $1,300,000 a year. The court order permitted the increase, pending final settlement of the case.

TO STEER DEFENSE GROUPS
Harrisburg Aug 31—(P)—Governor James and Colonel M. C. Eddy of the U. S. army will confer here Thursday on plans for guiding voluntary defense groups that have sprung up. James said the conference with the representative of Major General James K. Parsons, commander of the army's third corps area, was arranged at the suggestion of Parsons, who "feels that all these plans should be directed by federal and state authorities."

LABOR DAY
Pittsburgh, Aug 31—(P)—Some 25,000 American Federation of Labor unionists expect to march in a Labor Day parade through the city's downtown section Monday. Plans also call for 50 floats, 22 bands and orchestras and drum and bugle corps in the line of march.

MANY ACTIVITIES ARE PLANNED BY WARREN K. OF C.

At a well attended and enthusiastic special meeting on Thursday night, Warren Council of the Knights of Columbus, made plans for its immediate future. September promises to be a full one, starting with the investiture of a Circle of Columbian Squires on Sunday, September 8, when Warren Council will be host to such notables as Rev. Dr. Francis McNelis, state father prior of the Columbian Squires and diocesan superintendent of schools of the Altoona Diocese, and Rev. Fr. Walter J. Conway, of Erie, who is director of youth activities in the Erie Diocese; a district deputies, grand knights and other officers of surrounding councils, together with a large representation of members of the order.

For the following Sunday, September 15, Warren Council has been given a special invitation to attend the exemplification of the major degree at Bradford. A large number is planning to attend this unusual event.

Warren Council's annual stag picnic will be held this year in conjunction with the Usher Clubs on Sunday, September 22. Further details will be announced at the next regular Council meeting.

The climax of the meeting came when a letter from State Deputy John A. Redding, announced that Warren Council's present grand knight, Dr. J. T. Valone, had been appointed district deputy of the 26th district, which comprises councils of Warren, Bradford, Kane and Coudersport.

Dr. Valone holds the unusual position of grand knight of a subordinate council and at the same time is titular head of his district. The newly appointed district deputy in turn made the following appointments:

N. J. Mangus, district warden; Raymond P. Morrison, district secretary, and Rev. M. E. Dailey, district chaplain. The present district deputy replaces Francis J. Quigley, of Bradford, who has held the office for the past two years.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S RALLY AT LOCAL CHURCH MONDAY

On Monday, Labor Day, there is to be a special Sunday school and young people's rally at the local Church of the Nazarene, with delegations present from all the denominations of churches in northwestern Pennsylvania, including Erie, Bradford and Oil City.

The speaker for the day is to be Rev. David Anderson, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church in Bradford.

Special music will be provided by a male quartet from Eastern Nazarene College in Wollaston, Mass. In the afternoon, Rev. B. H. Mead, of Oil City, will bring a Sunday school message.

These rallies are planned as special times of inspiration and instruction for young people and for Sunday school workers, and are held twice each year in different Nazarene churches. This is the first time the gathering has been held in Warren in two or three years.

Members and friends of the church are urged to take advantage of the opportunity and attend these services. The hours for meetings are 10:30 a. m., 2:00 and 6:00 p. m.; the evening service, however, is held early to enable those coming from a distance to get home at a reasonable hour.

Back to School

Just when we were having the most fun, too.

Warren Borough's youngsters will trek back to school Tuesday morning to begin the 1940-41 term after a vacation of nearly three months.

The first two or three days will be spent in getting adjusted, but classes will begin and first assignments will be made almost immediately.

Principal F. W. Bathurst announced the home room assignments yesterday, a list of which may be found in last evening's Times-Mirror.

The county superintendent of schools, H. L. Blair, stated today that most of the county schools will open on Tuesday also. They include Mead, Bear Lake, Cherry Grove, Corydon, Glade, Grand Valley, Pine Grove, Pleasant, Sheffield, Sugar Grove borough, joint vocational and township, Watson, Kansas, Pittsfield, Farmington, Brokenstraw, Conewango, Deerfield, Freehold, South West, Spring Creek.

Tricounty schools will open Thursday, September 5. Columbus High School will open Monday, September 9, but the grades will not start until October 5 because of the construction of the new building there.

Her many friends will be interested to know that Miss Florence Armstrong, former Girl Reserve secretary at the local Y. W. C. A., is resuming her work here on Tuesday, September 3, after having spent the past year as adult club secretary at the Y. W. C. A. at Westfield. N. J. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Armstrong, Jackson street, and has much experience to qualify her for the position. During her year's absence, the local work was capably handled by Mrs. Plue Wendelboe, who held the office for some years prior to her marriage.

EVANGELICALS PLAN MEETING AT FRANKLIN

Several pastors and delegates from local Evangelical churches will be in attendance at the 89th annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Conference, which will be held next week in the First Evangelical church of Franklin. Rev. Boyd E. Coleman is pastor of this charge.

Presiding will be Bishop John Stamm, eastern area bishop and well known in this section. The conference includes 86 charges in western Pennsylvania and it is anticipated that the convention will be largely attended.

Sessions will begin at 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon with the annual memorial service for deceased pastors and members of their families, and will continue throughout the week, concluding with the report of the stationing committee Sunday, September 8.

Rev. J. C. Wygant, pastor, and O. R. Pang, delegate, will represent the local First Evangelical church. Rev. Shirey, pastor of Salem Evangelical church, will leave Wednesday morning and will be joined later in the week by his wife and their son, Olin. The Clarendon church of the same denomination will be represented by its pastor, Rev. H. G. Paul.

OCCUPY NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander C. Flick, West Fifth avenue, moved into their newly constructed home on Yankee Bush Hill on Friday.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE RETURN OF FRANK JAMES" AT THE LIBRARY THEATRE SUN., MON., TUES.

Filmed in spectacular Technicolor, the exciting and stirring climax to the daring exploits of the world's most famous outlaws opens Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Library Theatre in the 20th Century-Fox production, "The Return of Frank James."

The millions of moviegoers who thrilled to last year's "Jesse James" will find this new Darryl F. Zanuck production even more colorful and action-packed. These same millions will also find many familiar faces in the cast, for "Jesse James" players fill most of the important roles.

Henry Fonda, who created the part of Frank James, Jesse's grim older brother, is cast in the title role. Others appearing in the production, who were also featured in "Jesse James," include Henry Hull, John Carradine, J. Edward Bromberg, Donald Meek, Ernest Whitman, Charles Tannen and George Chandler.

POSTAL WORKERS CONVENTION

Philadelphia, Aug. 31.—(P)—More than 400 delegates representing postal workers throughout the state registered here today for the joint three-day convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Post Office Clerks and District No. 1 of the National Federation of Post Office Motor Vehicle Employees. Highlight of the convention will come Monday, when Ramsey S. Black, assistant postmaster general, and Postmaster Joseph F. Gallagher of Philadelphia will speak at the closing banquet.

McKenney On Bridge

DEFEAT OR VICTORY MAY REST ON PLAY OF ONE KEY CARD

This is the last of our series of articles showing that it does not pay to play poker bridge.

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The playing conventions in contract bridge are new. While contract is a fairly new game, we know there has been some form of whist played for hundreds of years, and the conventions of the play have slowly developed over the centuries. Therefore, when you hear a player say, "I lead whatever I think will win" or "I lead what I see them," that the player either does not know the conventional plays or he has an inferiority complex.

Opening—A J. 31

Suppose you were sitting West in today's hand. The opponent on your right is playing the contract at three no trump, and you hold three of your partner's suit headed by the jack. Should you lead the honor?

No, hold the honor to trap one of declarer's spades, and lead the small one. If West leads the jack, South wins with the king, knocks out the king of diamonds, and if East cashes the ace and queen of spades, South gets the spade ten for his ninth trick. If East refuses to establish the spade ten, then declarer sets up a long club, losing only one diamond, one club and two spades.

If West leads the three of spades, East will come in with the ace and return the seven of spades, his fourth best. Now regardless of how declarer plays, he will have only eight tricks, going down one.

POTATO'S RESPONSIBILITY

The introduction of the potato into Europe made possible great increases in population, so this food has been given part of the blame for the World War.

LABOR DAY

All Recreational Areas to Remain Open Indefinitely for Picnicking and Camping; Swimming Facilities to Close Labor Day

The popular swimming facilities at the Leola and Twin Lakes Recreational Areas will be closed after Labor Day, Forest Supervisor R. F. Hemmingsway announced today. With the advent of cool weather, too few persons are likely to desire to swim in the chilly waters to justify the retention of the trained lifeguards. As no swimming is permitted except under supervision, this very popular sport is ended for another season.

In spite of the shortened season because of cool and generally inclement weather conditions, both areas enjoyed heavy use and 20,000 to 30,000 bathers have participated in this healthful recreation. All recreational areas will remain open indefinitely for picnicking and camping.

Heart's Content being the only additional area that has camping facilities. Kennedy Park, which was recently acquired by the government, near Bradford, is being improved by enrollees from Camp F-3 near Dunkles Corners. This fall so that additional facilities for picnicking will be made available to the general public in that area.

The cooperation of the public in the use of picnicking areas has enabled the Forest Service to keep these areas open after the regular camp administrators have gone for the season. It is hoped that this cooperation will continue so that this use will be available to all throughout the fall months.

NEW BOYS' WORK SECRETARY TO ASSUME DUTIES

TELFORD F. EPPLEY

Telford F. Eppley, who was recently named successor to Chauncey Davis as boys' work secretary of the Warren Y. M. C. A., takes up his new duties here next Thursday, immediately upon his return from the annual Employed Officers conference at Chambersburg.

Mr. Eppley comes to the local association highly recommended by the officers and the membership of the Erie Y. M. C. A., where he served as assistant boys' work secretary and one year as young men's and dormitory secretary.

He was educated at the University of Pittsburgh and George Williams College, Chicago. He will immediately begin to lay plans for the fall and winter program, and local association officials are confident that the already well-developed boys' program will go forward under his direction.

Mr. Davis is now general secretary of the Clearfield Y. M. C. A.

Russell

Russell, Aug. 30.—The A Number One club members met at the home of Mrs. Clyde Briggs Thursday afternoon with a dinner served at 5:30 o'clock. The September meeting will be held with Mrs. Lester Hale at Youngsville.

Relatives tendered Mrs. Rhoda Adams a party in honor of her 93 birthday anniversary Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elson Daugherty. Visiting and music were enjoyed. Mrs. Daugherty served refreshments. Mrs. Adams is in very good health. Dr. and Mrs. Aaron Daugherty of Baltimore were present from a distance.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Faulkner of Mt. Jewett spent Wednesday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Faulkner.

Mrs. Blanche Phillips of Inglewood, Calif., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Mattison this week. Joyce Hunt of Prewsburg is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kelley.

Local Man Named Representative On U. S. State Council

L. E. Nason, of this city, was yesterday elected representative to the State Council at the Erie Conference of the United Brethren Church of Christ, meeting in Buffalo.

Other officers elected were: Rev. H. Ray Harris, of Corry, recording secretary and also a state council representative; Rev. Leslie T. Lincoln, of Deekards, Pa., statistical secretary; Rev. Charles M. McIntyre, of Bradford, board of education; Rev. Fred D. McGill, of Deekards, Pa., League trustee. The conference approved plans for the organization of a committee to enroll conscientious objectors to military service, but were warned by Bishop Grant D. Baldorf, of Harrisburg, that such an enrollment would not guarantee exemption from military service.

"The individual who registers must be prepared to state to government officials the reasons for his convictions and be ready to hear the consequences," the bishop said.

The playing conventions in contract bridge are new. While contract is a fairly new game, we know there has been some form of whist played for hundreds of years, and the conventions of the play have slowly developed over the centuries. Therefore, when you hear a player say, "I lead whatever I think will win" or "I lead them as I see them," that player either does not know the conventional plays or he has an inferiority complex.

Suppose you were sitting West in today's hand. The opponent on your right is playing the contract at three no trump, and you hold three of your partner's suit headed by the jack. Should you lead the honor?

No, hold the honor to trap one of declarer's spades, and lead the small one. If West leads the jack, South wins with the king, knocks out the king of diamonds, and the East cashes the ace and queen of spades. South gets the spade ten, then declarer sets up a long club, losing only one diamond, one club and two spades.

If West leads the three of spades, East will come in with the ace and return the seven of spades, his fourth best. Now regardless of how declarer plays, he will have only eight tricks, going down one.

LABOR DAY

All Recreational Areas to Remain Open
Indefinitely for Picnicking and Camping;
Swimming Facilities to Close Labor Day

The popular swimming facilities at the Leola and Twin Lakes Recreational Areas will be closed after Labor Day, Forest Supervisor R. F. Hemmingway announced today. With the advent of cool weather, too few persons are likely to desire to swim in the chilling waters to justify the retention of the trained lifeguards. As no swimming is permitted except under supervision, this very popular sport is ended for another season.

In spite of the shortened season because of cool and generally inclement weather conditions, both areas enjoyed heavy use and 20,000 to 30,000 bathers have participated in this healthful recreation. All recreational areas will remain open indefinitely for picnicking and camping.

Hearts Content being the only additional area that has camping facilities. Kennedy Park, which was recently acquired by the government, near Bradford, is being improved by enrollees from Camp F-3 near Dunkles Corners this fall so that additional facilities for picnicking will be made available to the general public in that area.

The cooperation of the public in the use of picnicking areas has enabled the Forest Service to keep these areas open after the regular camp administrators have gone for the season. It is hoped that this cooperation will continue so that this use will be available to all throughout the fall months.

NEW BOYS' WORK
SECRETARY TO

TELFORD F. EPPLEY

Telford F. Eppley, who was recently named successor to Chauncey Davis as boys' work secretary of the Warren Y. M. C. A., takes up his new duties here next Thursday, immediately upon his return from the annual Employed Officers conference at Chambersburg.

Mr. Eppley comes to the local association highly recommended by the officers and the membership of the Erie Y. M. C. A., where he served as assistant boys' work secretary and one year as young men's and dormitory secretary.

He was educated at the University of Pittsburgh and George Williams College, Chicago. He will immediately begin to lay plans for the fall and winter program, and local association officials are confident that the already well-developed boys' program will go forward under his direction.

Mr. Davis is now general secretary of the Clearfield Y. M. C. A.

LABOR HAS SOMETHING TO CELEBRATE
American labor might be pardoned if it felt a tinge of loneliness on this Labor Day.
Except for Great Britain, Canada, Australia, Mexico, New Zealand and a scattering of smaller countries, it now stands alone as the last great group of free working men.
It is true that this freedom is shadowed by the looming fact of unemployment, and that those who are able and willing to work, yet cannot find work to do, may question the value of their freedom. Yet even they must take some hope from the fact that their problem is foremost in the minds of the rest of their countrymen, and that the country is determined never to rest until it is solved.

But for the 35,600,000 men and women who are today earning their daily bread, there is pride and strength even in their loneliness. They are free. If they want to quit their job and seek another there is nothing to prevent save that universal compulsion that he who would eat must work. If they decide to band together to seek mutual advantages through organization, the right is guaranteed them.

But they have other inestimable advantages. In addition to being workers, they are also free men and women. They vote for their leaders and their votes are counted, and counted equally with any man's vote. They may themselves aspire to any office, and to any position in industry. The means to better themselves through education are at hand. Social security laws have given some assurance against the terrors of old age and disability. There is every prospect that these assurances will be made stronger as the years pass. And beyond laws and constitutions, there is the old American pull toward the feeling that one man is, basically, as good as another, despite differences in education, ability, position, color, race or creed.

Yes, American labor has a good deal to be thankful for in 1940. The way in which it has buckled down to the defense of its country is evidence that it knows it. True, it stands almost alone today, but it looks steadily and confidently forward to another day, when its example will have drawn many others to its side.

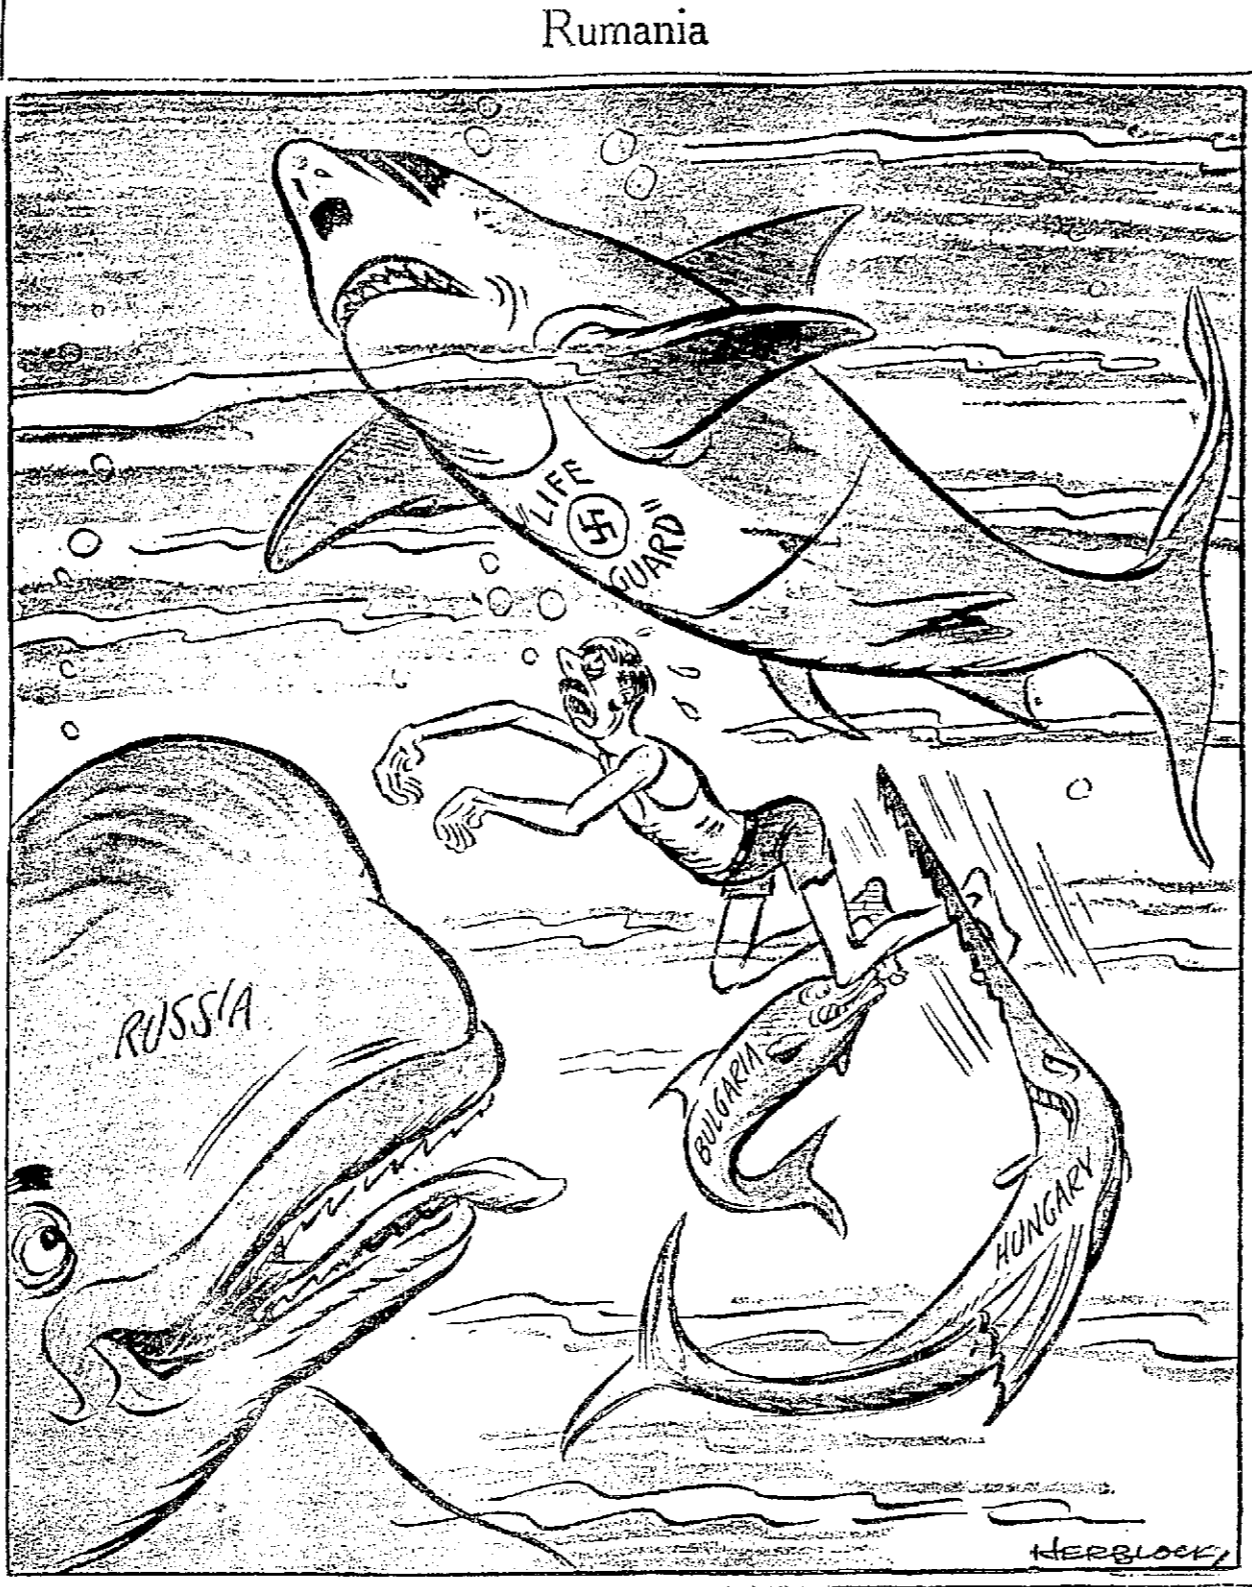

WEEKLY SERMONETTE
MAN SHOULD HAVE IMPULSE TO WORSHIP
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Text: Psalm 103:1-5, 10-18
Man seems inevitably to be a worshipping creature. Almost from the beginning of history there are evidences of the altars he has set up, and his ways of sacrifice, in obedience to some higher power than himself.
Where he has not had come intelligent being to worship, he has set up his altars to the unknown god and he has bowed before idols. This worshipping feeling in man has had its noblest history and expression in the Jewish Scriptures, which came out of Jewish religious experience, the Christian Scriptures, and the Christian experience, which have had their origin in the same great source.

The man who feels no impulse to worship is surely lacking in something essential. The impulse of praise is inevitable to a man as he gazes upon the sunrise or a beautiful sunset, or beholds the marvels of nature.
The impulse may find varying forms of expression. It may, in fact, well up in the soul of a man who is not able to express it. But the worshipping feeling is there, and it is fortunate for those who cannot express what is in them that they have a heritage of saints and poets who have shared with common men their deepest expressions of joy and praise.
The 103rd Psalm, from which the passages in this lesson are taken, is one of the greatest of these songs of praise. It was evidently written in a mood of great happiness, but it comes out of the hard and bitter, as well as the sweet experience of life.
It has reference to iniquities and diseases and destruction, and its note of praise is because the Psalmist has found forgiveness for his iniquities, healing for his diseases, and redemption from destruction. There is praise for the positive blessings of life, the loving kindness and tender mercies with which his life has been crowned, and the satisfaction of his desire for good things.
The Psalmist puts it in this way. He says that God hath not dealt with us after our sins, nor rewarded us after our iniquities. If there were not some gain of grace and mercy to the universe, some triumph of goodness and truth over evil, how could the world go on? How could there be any gain, or even continuance of human life itself? It is because goodness is stronger than evil, truth stronger than error, and God in His mercy and grace, more powerful than man in his forgetfulness of God and in his sinning; that the world continues.
So there is good ground for our worship, for our blessing the Lord with all that is in us, and for our prayer that our lives may be in harmony with His mercy and His grace and in the keeping of His covenant.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Mr. I. J. Fox is a wealthy furrier in New York who has a weakness for cinema talent. He likes to see the glamor actresses all dolled up in his expensive jackets and he likes also to see his name in the headlines. He pays out lots of good coarse money to achieve both these ends by styling coats exclusively for various cinema figures and by advertising lavishly in the newspapers and on the air.
The other night we went out to the Riviera to see the new show and we got there just as the roof was being rolled back. The Riviera is a very beautiful place at Ft. Lee, N. J., just across from George Washington Bridge, overlooking the Hudson river. The roof, if the engineer presses the right button, noiselessly slides back, leaving an oval of star-filled sky for the customers to look at.

We were enjoying this spectacle when an airplane by chance appeared overhead, trailing an advertisement of Mr. Fox's furs in lights. It flew right over the open oval, where the customers couldn't miss it. Lazily it circled a few times, then disappeared in the direction of Nantucket.
By coincidence also we noticed that the man who sat at the table on our right was Mr. I. J. Fox himself. He seemed utterly fascinated with what he saw. He couldn't take his eyes off the plane. We haven't any idea who the pilot was, but we can tell you that not even Dick Byrd could have timed his arrival any nearer. After that, for at least one customer in the place, the things that happened on the stage were wholly and altogether anti-climatic.

In the movies, pearl divers usually are beach boys, but in the Dutch East Indies they are girls. Reason: girls are supposed to have deeper lungs than men and can remain under water longer. It's little items of information like this that one picks up from Will Xolan, who is handling a convention of pearl syndicate men in New York. Some of the pearls they bring back, says Will, would knock your eye out. One of the exhibits of the convention is an all-pearl gown, containing 61-111 pearls. It is valued at $75,000.
AS THIS 31st day of August puts in its limp, dusky appearance only eight shows are man on Broadway and five are musicals. It is odd tide for the legitimate theater, but in less than two weeks the new season will be under way. The theaters at the moment may be empty and dusty, but rehearsal halls are hives of shouting directors and anxious actors, preparing for the get-away. This is a tense period in any actor's career. He is a nervous wreck until the morning after the opening night, whether his efforts will lead to the fulfillment of dreams or to a bleak two-week dismissal announcement on the backstage bulletin board.
Taking part in this scene has been Maxwell Anderson who, sweating freely, has interviewed more than 250 actors with an eye to filling an important role in his new drama, 'Journey to Jerusalem.' It will be the Playwright Company's first 1940-41 offering. Other members of the company working on new dramas are Elmer Rice and S. N. Behrman.

STORIES IN STAMPS

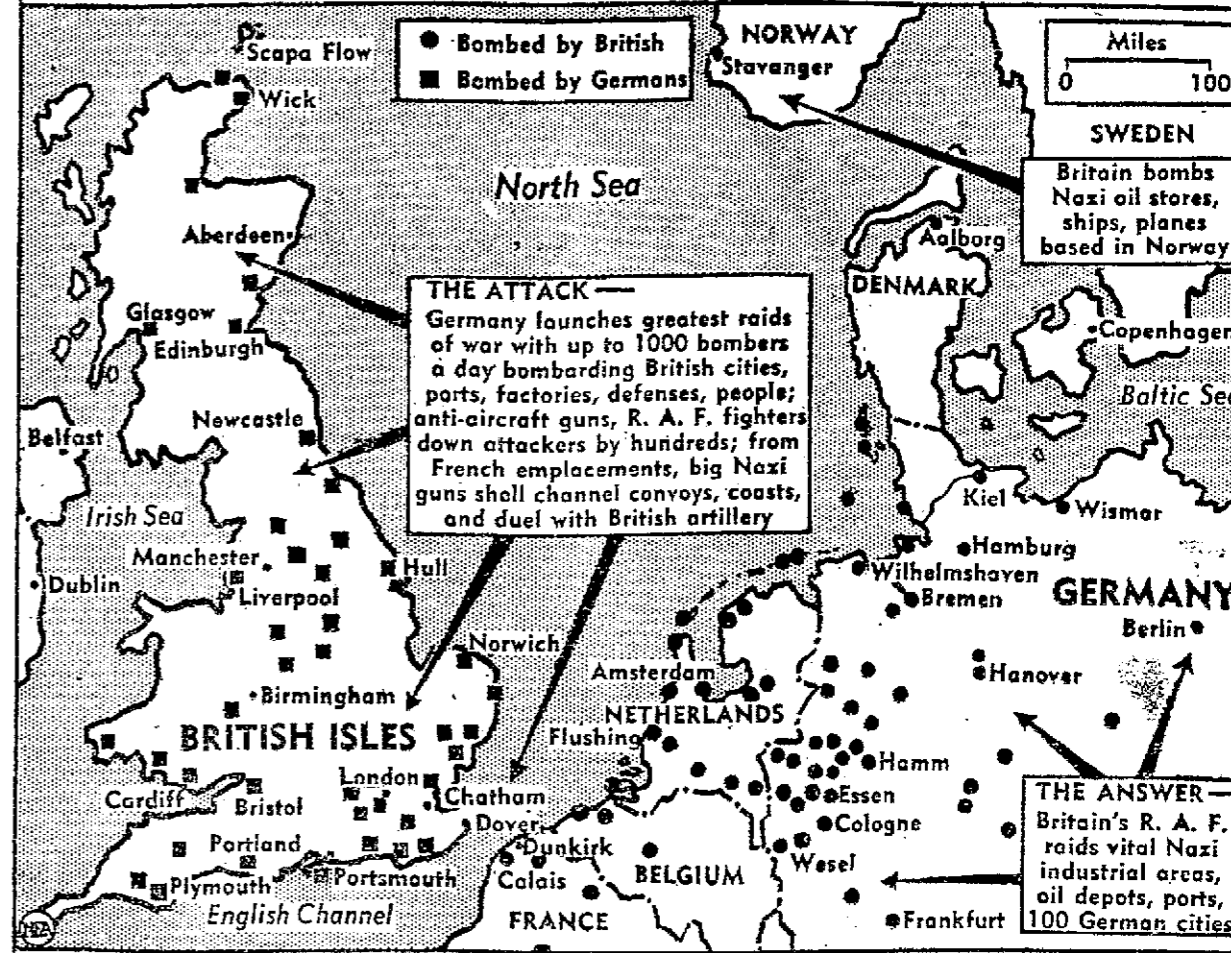

World's Rarest Stamp Sold to Unnamed Buyer

PHILATELY'S rarest stamp, the 1-cent British Guiana of 1856, reproduced above, from a photograph, has been sold to an unidentified purchaser by Mrs. Anna Hind Scala, of Utica, N. Y. The stamp catalogs at $50,000, but the purchase price was reported to be about $10,000 below that figure.
The stamp cost Arthur Hind $37,000 when he bought the famous Ferrary collection in Paris in 1922. Shortly before his death, he gave the stamp to his wife.
The stamp remained unknown from issue until its discovery in 1873 by a youth named Vaughn who sold it for $1.50. Ferrary paid about $750 for it.

Year Of War . . . 12th Month

August: The Battle of Britain Begins in Earnest

In August, the people of Britain came to know the full meaning of blitzkrieg as Germany struck to destroy the island kingdom with the might of the Nazi air force. England's own sky squadrons answered blow for blow as they dished out to Germany a taste of modern aerial warfare in magnitude never before felt by the nation so adept at dispensing it. In Africa, Britain offered secondary resistance to the triple assault of Italy on Egypt, Kenya and Somaliland, but was forced to evacuate the latter. After 12 months of war, a dent had finally been made in the great British empire.

LABOR HAS SOMETHING TO CELEBRATE

American labor might be pardoned if it felt a tinge of loneliness on this Labor Day.

Except for Great Britain, Canada, Australia, Mexico, New Zealand and a scattering of smaller countries, it now stands alone as the last great group of free working men.

It is true that this freedom is shadowed by the looming fact of unemployment, and that those who are able and willing to work, yet cannot find work to do, may question the value of their freedom. Yet even they must take some hope from the fact that their problem is foremost in the minds of the rest of their countrymen, and that the country is determined never to rest until it is solved.

But for the 35,600,000 men and women who are today earning their daily bread, there is pride and strength even in their loneliness. They are free. If they want to quit their job and seek another there is nothing to prevent save that universal compulsion that he who would eat must work. If they decide to band together to seek mutual advantages through organization, the right is guaranteed them.

But they have other inestimable advantages. In addition to being workers, they are also free men and women. They vote for their leaders and their votes are counted, and counted equally with any man's vote. They may themselves aspire to any office, and to any position in industry. The means to better themselves through education are at hand. Social security laws have given some assurance against the terrors of old age and disability. There is every prospect that these assurances will be made stronger as the years pass. And beyond laws and constitutions, there is the old American pull toward the feeling that one man is, basically, as good as another, despite differences in education, ability, position, color, race or creed.

Yes, American labor has a good deal to be thankful for in 1940. The way in which it has buckled down to the defense of its country is evidence that it knows it. True, it stands almost alone today, but it looks steadily and confidently forward to another day, when its example will have drawn many others to its side.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

MAN SHOULD HAVE IMPULSE TO WORSHIP

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Text: Psalm 103:1-5, 10-18

Man seems inevitably to be a worshipping creature. Almost from the beginning of history there are evidences of the altars he has set up, and his ways of sacrifice, in obedience to some higher power than himself.

Where he has not had come intelligent being to worship, he has set up his altars to the unknown god and he has bowed before idols. This worshipping feeling in man has had its noblest history and expression in the Jewish Scriptures, which came out of Jewish religious experience, the Christian Scriptures, and the Christian experience, which have had their origin in the same great source.

The man who feels no impulse to worship is surely lacking in something essential. The impulse of praise is inevitable to a man as he gazes upon the sunrise or a beautiful sunset, or beholds the marvels of nature.

The impulse may find varying forms of expression. It may, in fact, well up in the soul of a man who is not able to express it. But the worshipping feeling is there, and it is fortunate for those who cannot express what is in them that they have a heritage of saints and poets who have shared with common men their deepest expressions of joy and praise.

The 103rd Psalm, from which the passages in this lesson are taken, is one of the greatest of these songs of praise. It was evidently written in a mood of great happiness, but it comes out of the hard and bitter, as well as the sweet experience of life.

It has reference to iniquities and diseases and destruction, and its note of praise is because the Psalmist has found forgiveness for his iniquities, healing for his diseases, and redemption from destruction. There is praise for the positive blessings of life, the loving kindness and tender mercies with which his life has been crowned, and the satisfaction of his desire for good things.

The Psalmist puts it in this way. He says that God hath not dealt with us after our sins, nor rewarded us after our iniquities. If there were not some gain of grace and mercy to the universe, some triumph of goodness and truth over evil, how could the world go on?

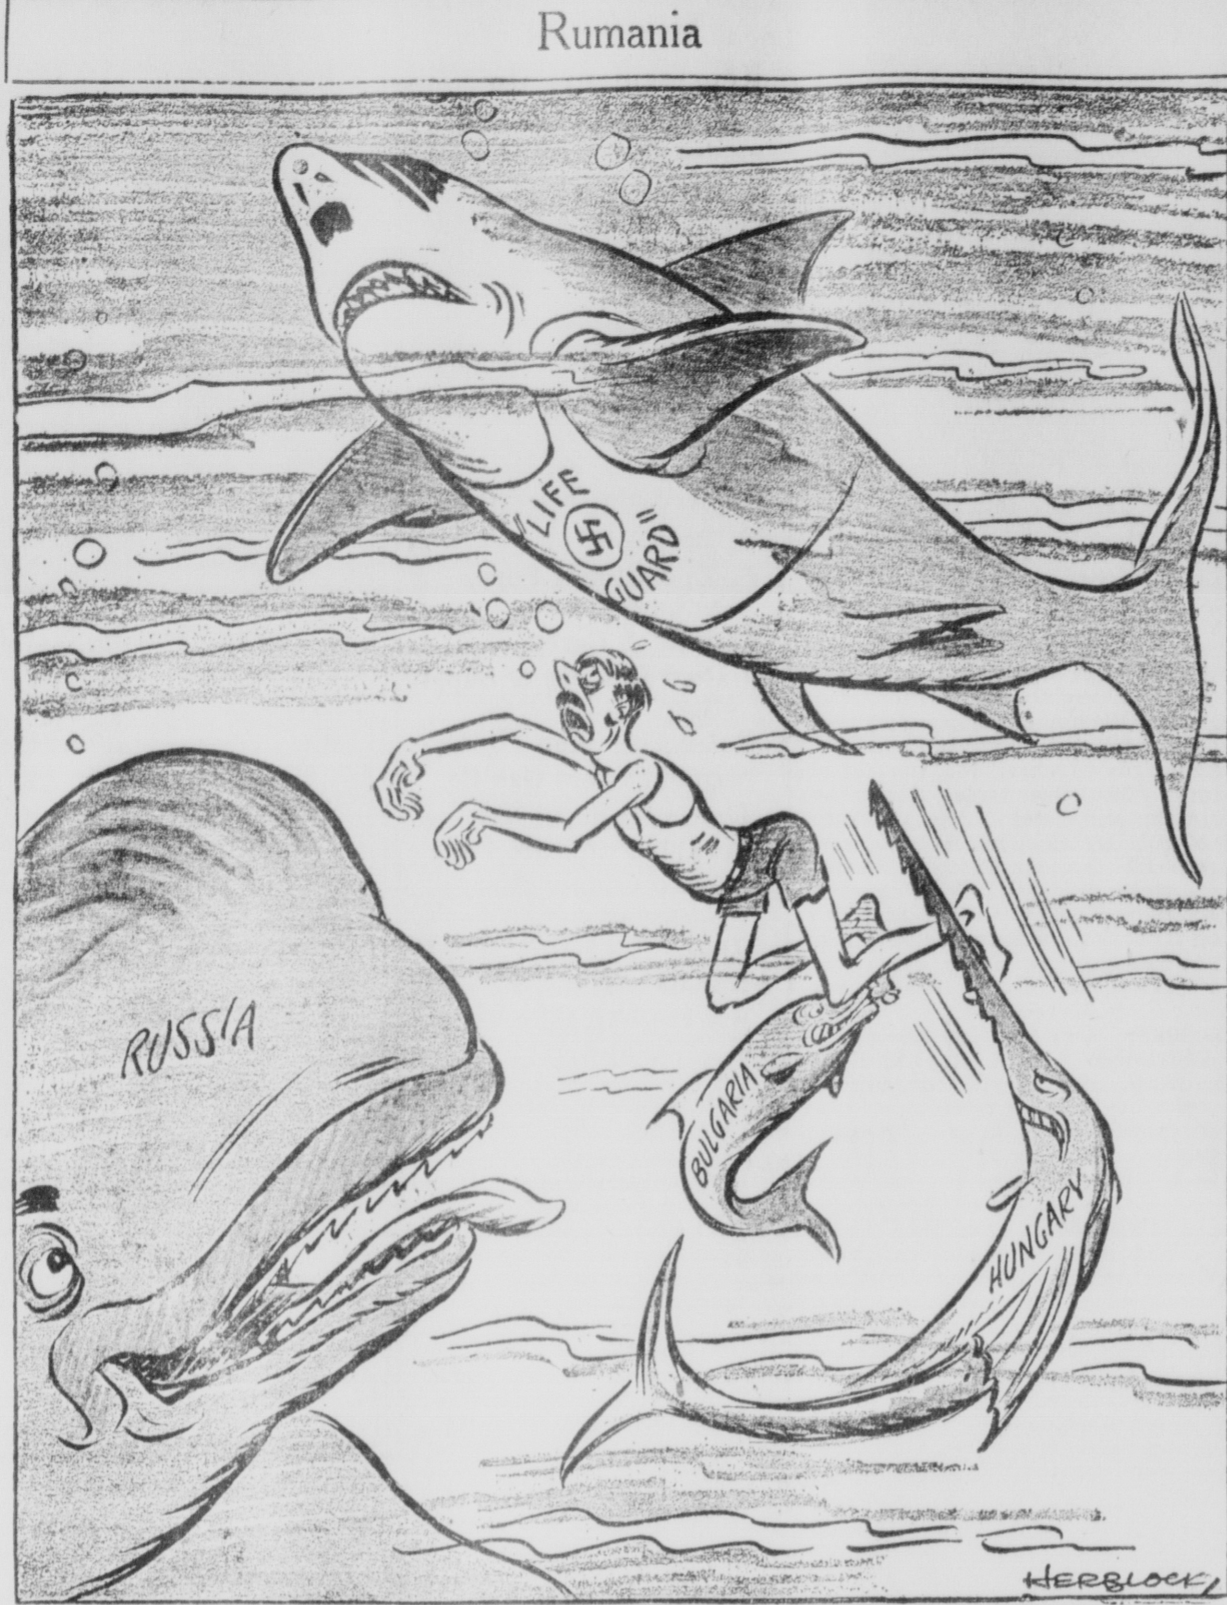

How could there be any gain, or even continuance of human life itself? It is because goodness is stronger than evil, truth stronger than error; and God in His mercy and grace, more powerful than man in his forgetfulness of God and in his sinning; that the world continues.

So there is good ground for our worship, for our blessing the Lord with all that is in us, and for our prayer that our lives may be in harmony with His mercy and His grace and in the keeping of His covenant.

Year Of War 12th Month

August: The Battle of Britain Begins in Earnest

In August, the people of Britain came to know the full meaning of blitzkrieg, as Germany struck to destroy the island kingdom with the might of the Nazi air force. England's own sky squadrons answered blow for blow as they dished out to Germany a taste of modern aerial warfare in magnitude never before felt by the nation so adept at dispensing it. In Africa, Britain offered secondary resistance to the triple assault of Italy on Egypt, Kenya and Somaliland, but was forced to evacuate the latter. After 12 months of war, a dent had finally been made in the great British empire.

Church of the Nazarene
907 Penna. Ave., East.
A live, growing, homelike church where men love the Lord and their fellow man. You will be helped spiritually by these services. Sunday school, with interesting classes for all, is at 9:45 a. m. The morning worship at 11 a. m., Young People's Societies at 6:30 and the evening service at 7:30. There is inspiring gospel singing at all these services as well as a message designed to help in this business of living a Christian life. Special attention is called to the evening service, which is the last in a special series entitled, "Five Nights with the Nazarene." Be sure to hear the closing message in this series. Wednesday evening is prayer meeting night. Thursday evening the Young People's Society welcome their prayer hour. A cordial welcome awaits you. Rev. H. Blair Ward, Minister.

First Church of Christ, Scientist
312 Market St.
Sunday service 10:45 a. m. Sunday school at 12 o'clock. Wednesday evening meeting at 8 o'clock. "Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 1. The Golden Text is: "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved" (John 3:17). Among Bible citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon is the following: "When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed" (Matthew 8:1-3). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and

The declining importance of air mail revenues to the airlines is shown by comparing the reports for the year 1939 and 1932—in the later year, passenger traffic accounted for 64 per cent. of gross revenues, and mail 35 per cent. compared with 23 per cent. passenger and 75 per cent. mail in 1932.

Margaret Gail Heard-William Allen Keefe Are Wed in Holy Redeemer Church Service

While gladioli and ferns were used in pretty altar decorations at the Holy Redeemer church this morning, when Father Michael E. Dailey united in marriage Miss Margaret Gail Heard, daughter of Mrs. Otilia Heard, 120 Oak street, and William Allen Keefe, also of Oak street, son of H. L. Keefe, of Tulsa, Okla.

Music for the nine o'clock ceremony was provided by Mrs. Marie Clark Dillon, organist, playing the traditional wedding marches, and Miss Agnes Monroe, soloist, who sang "I Love You Truly," "Ave Maria," "Because" and "O Promise Me."

The bride was attractive in a gown of white satin, princess style, and her long, flowing veil was held with a tiera of seed pearls. Her bouquet was in colonial effect. A. A. Albaugh, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. Mrs. Lawrence J. Vatter, of New Castle, as matron of honor, wore a hyacinth blue lace frock and a hat in matching shade. Her colonial bouquet was of pink roses and forget-me-nots.

Mr. Vatter, the bride's cousin, was Mr. Keefe's best man.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at 10:30 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. activities building, the guests numbering 24. A white bride's cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the breakfast table and place cards were in white and gold.

Besides those mentioned in the bridal party, out of town guests were Mrs. R. Vatter and Robert O'Leary, New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Gillespie, Sharpville; Miss Margaret Albaugh, Meadville; Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. McNeal, Sheffield.

For a short wedding trip, the bride chose a blue wool frock and navy accessories. The couple expect to be at home at 120 Oak street after September 3.

Both young people are graduates of Warren High School. Mr. Keefe in 1931 and Mrs. Keefe in 1933. She has been employed by the New Process Company and he is employed in the composing room of the Times Publishing Company.

Sophisticated Lady

This smart fall pompadour hair-do, shown with one of the new pompadour hats, may be changed slightly to look well with two other, entirely different types of hats. The black lace mantilla lends a note of sophistication, and so does the rich, very dark red lipstick.

Florence McFayden Will Wed Kenneth Anderson in Afternoon Church Ceremony

At four o'clock this afternoon in the North Warren Presbyterian church, Rev. J. H. Cruickshank, pastor, will unite in marriage Miss Florence McFayden, daughter of Mrs. Delcie McFayden, 113 Main street, North Warren, and Kenneth Anderson, 20 Park street, North Warren, son of Mrs. Anna Anderson, of Jamestown, N. Y.

Gladioli will be used to bank the altar and white candles in candelabra. Mrs. Watson Jamieson, organist, has chosen the following selections in addition to the Wagner and Mendelssohn wedding marches: "At Dawning" by Cadman, "Venetian Love Song" by Nevin, "I Love You Truly" by Bond, "Traumerei" by Schumann, "O Promise Me" by DeKoven and "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell.

Finley McFayden, of Erie, will give his niece in marriage. She will wear a fall street frock of soldier blue, with matching accessories, and will carry a bouquet of fall flowers.

Her only attendant will be Miss Virginia Schuler, of North Warren, who will wear a fall frock of black, with black accessories, and will carry a similar bouquet.

Mrs. Anderson will wear black, with black accessories, and a corsage of fall flowers. The bride's mother has chosen royal blue, matching accessories and a similar corsage.

Clarence E. Andrews, of Lakewood, N. Y., will be the best man and ushers will be Raymond Anderson, of Jamestown, and Lyle Christie, of North Warren.

The wedding dinner will be served at Geracimos' private dining room immediately following the ceremony for the immediate families and a few intimate friends. A wedding cake will center the bride's table, with white gladioli at the ends, and flanked by white candles, and other tables will have bouquets of fall flowers in pastels, with white candles.

Among the guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Howard Buell, Mr. and Mrs. John Himrod, Miss Marion Himrod, Miss Jean Himrod, John Himrod, Jr., Mrs. Mabel Skinner, Miss Audrey Skinner, Miss Ann Skinner, Mrs. and Mrs. Clarence Andrews, of Lakewood; Mrs. Anna Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. William Juul, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson, Albert Anderson, Jr., Jamestown; Mr. and Mrs. Alton Newgreen, Betty Newgreen, Youngs-grove; Mrs. Orlo Biggin, Miss Jean Biggin, Miss Mary Biggin, Cortland, O.; Miss Marjorie McDermott, of Bradford.

Later the couple will leave for an eastern motor trip, the bride to wear a tan and brown costume suit, with kid green accessories. After October 1, the couple will be at home to their friends in Jamestown.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school and Mr. Anderson, alumnus of Jamestown High School, is employed by the Pearl City Mills in that city.

The following have given pre-nuptial parties for the bride-elect: Miss Virginia Schuler and Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Henry Larson; Miss Jane Ward and Miss Helen Hück; Miss Joyce Anderg and Mrs. LeRoy Hammerbeck; Miss Clifford Christie; Mrs. George Cowden.

Margaret Gail Heard-William Allen Keefe Are Wed in Holy Redeemer Church Service

While gladioli and ferns were used in pretty altar decorations at the Holy Redeemer church this morning, when Father Michael E. Dailey united in marriage Miss Margaret Gail Heard, daughter of Mrs. Otilia Heard, 120 Oak street, and William Allen Keefe, also of Oak street, son of H. L. Keefe, of Tulsa, Okla.

Music for the nine o'clock ceremony was provided by Mrs. Marie Clark Dillon, organist, playing the traditional wedding marches, and Miss Agnes Monroe, soloist, who sang "I Love You Truly," "Ave Maria," "Because" and "O Promise Me".

The bride was attractive in a gown of white satin, princess style, and her long, flowing veil was held with a tiara of seed pearls. Her bouquet was in colonial effect. A. A. Albaugh, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage.

Mrs. Lawrence J. Vatter, of New Castle, as matron of honor, wore a hyacinth blue lace frock and a hat in matching shade. Her colonial bouquet was of pink roses and forget-me-nots.

Mr. Vatter, the bride's cousin, was Mr. Keefe's best man.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at 10:30 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. activities building, the guests numbering 24. A white bride's cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the breakfast table and place cards were in white and gold.

Besides those mentioned in the bridal party, out of town guests were Mrs. R. Vatter and Robert O'Leary, New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Gillespie, Sharpville; Mrs. Margaret Albaugh, Meadville; Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. McNeal, Sheffield.

For a short wedding trip, the bride chose a blue wool frock and navy accessories. The couple expect to be at home at 120 Oak street after September 3.

Both young people are graduates of Warren High School, Mr. Keefe in 1931 and Mrs. Keefe in 1933. She has been employed by the New Process Company and he is employed in the composing room of the Times Publishing Company.

Sophisticated Lady

This smart fall pompadour hair-do, shown with one of the new pompadour hats, may be changed slightly to look well with two other, entirely different types of hats. The black lace mantilla lends a note of sophistication, and so does the rich, very dark red lipstick.

Florence McFayden Will Wed Kenneth Anderson in Afternoon Church Ceremony

At four o'clock this afternoon in the North Warren Presbyterian church, Rev. J. H. Cruickshank, pastor, will unite in marriage Miss Florence McFayden, daughter of Mrs. Delcie McFayden, 113 Main street, North Warren, and Kenneth Anderson, 20 Park street, North Warren, son of Mrs. Anna Anderson, of Jamestown, N. Y.

Gladioli will be used to bank the altar and white candles in candelabra. Mrs. Watson Jamieson, organist, has chosen the following selections in addition to the Wagner and Mendelssohn wedding marches: "At Dawning" by Cadman, "Venetian Love Song" by Nevin, "I Love You Truly" by Bond, "Traumerel" by Schumann, "O Promise Me" by DeKoven and "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell.

Finley McFayden, of Erie, will give his niece in marriage. She will wear a fall street frock of soldier blue, with matching accessories, and will carry a bouquet of fall flowers.

Her only attendant will be Miss Virginia Schuler, of North Warren, who will wear a fall frock of black, with black accessories, and will carry a similar bouquet.

Mrs. Anderson will wear black, with black accessories, and a corsage of fall flowers. The bride's mother has chosen royal blue, matching accessories and a similar corsage.

Clarence E. Andrews, of Lakewood, N. Y., will be the best man and ushers will be Raymond Anderson, of Jamestown, and Lyle Christie, of North Warren.

The wedding dinner will be served at Geracimos' private dining room immediately following the ceremony for the immediate families and a few intimate friends. A wedding cake will center the bride's table, with white gladioli at the base and flanked by white candles, and other tables will have bouquets of fall flowers in pastels, with white candles.

Among the guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Howard Buell, Mr. and Mrs. John Himrod, Miss Marion Himrod, Miss Jean Himrod, John Himrod, Jr., Mrs. Mabel Skinner, Miss Audrey Skinner, Miss Ann Skinner, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Andrews, of Lakewood; Mrs. Anna Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. William Juhl, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson, Albert Anderson, Jr., Jamestown; Mr. and Mrs. Alton Newgreen, Betty Newgreen, Youngsville; Mrs. Orlo Biggin, Miss Jean Biggin, Miss Mary Biggin, Cortland, O.; Miss Marjette McDermott, of Bradford.

Later the couple will leave for an eastern motor trip, the bride to wear a tan and brown costume suit, with kiki green accessories. After October 1, the couple will be at home to their friends in Jamestown.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school and Mr. Anderson, alumnus of Jamestown High School, is employed by the Pearl City Mills in that city.

The following have given pre-nuptial parties for the bride-elect: Miss Virginia Schuler and Mrs. Richard Smith; Mrs. Henry Larson; Miss Jane Ward and Miss Helen Huck; Miss Joyce Anderg and Mrs. LeRoy Hammerbeck; Mrs. Clifford Christie; Mrs. George Cowden.

SMALL WORLD

Philadelphia, Aug. 31—(P)—C. Harry Benjamin, superintendent of Mount Sinai Hospital, believes it's a small world. He reported his automobile stolen and then went to the hospital. There he found physicians treating a youth for a gunshot wound in the thigh. It had been inflicted by a policeman who saw the youth fleeing from Benjamin's car.

It is estimated that one day's operation of a fleet of bombing and pursuit planes in Europe's mechanized forces necessitates the consumption of enough motor fuel to operate 3000 American passenger cars for a full year.

Trinidad island produces more petroleum than any other spot in the British Empire.

CRACK SHOTS OF THIS CITY ENTER NATIONAL MEET

At least eight of the best rifle and pistol shots in this part of Pennsylvania will represent Warren at the national rifle and pistol matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, September 1 to 21, with high hopes of bringing to the state one or more of the shooting trophies or championships awarded annually by the National Rifle Association and the U. S. War Department.

The national matches, open to any citizen of the United States, have been conducted by the National Rifle Association, governing body of organized rifle and pistol shooting in the country since 1873. The war department, through the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practices, has participated in the matches since 1902, when Congress appropriated funds for the purchase of trophies, and since then has maintained an increasingly important part. Opened to civilians, as well as branches of the regular and reserve military and naval forces and federal, city and state police, by the National Defense Act of 1916, the matches have grown yearly to a 1939 high mark of 4,300 competitors and a camp of more than 10,000.

With the national defense picture as highly important as it has been in recent months, the Camp Perry matches take on added importance to civilians and military alike, and far more than last year's record attendance figures are looked for. The first week of the matches is given over to schools of training in rifle and pistol technique. Members of both National Guard and civilian teams sent from every state and territory, each a twelve man team, are required to go through the week of schooling. Those at camp for the first time are given rudimentary instruction while for those returning to the matches an advanced school is conducted.

Each man to complete the course of instruction is given a diploma by the War Department qualifying him as a competent rifle instructor. With national mobilization for defense a definite possibility, these rifle instructors, more than 10,000 of them graduated since the World War, will form a nucleus around which a powerful army can be built. The outbreak of the World War found the United States with but a handful, less than 25, competent civilian instructors available to train recruits.

The first week of the national matches also includes the junior school, for youngsters between 12 and 18, and the junior championships. The police pistol school, open also to civilians for instruction in pistol, is also held at that time, with sub-machine gun instruction, ju jitsu and deft handling of criminals taught the law enforcement men.

Two and a half miles of ranges for all manner of fire-arms greet the shooting fan on the shore of Lake Erie, the largest rifle range in the world, with living accommodations for more than 10,000. Between Sandusky and Toledo, the camp is a thriving city for three weeks, with every need available. National championships in the big .30 calibre service rifle, the .22 rifle and all sizes of pistol, both individual and team are at stake, with the world's best marksmen on hand to keep firing at a white hot pitch. Individual firing in .30 calibre, small bore and smaller caliber pistol occupy the second week, with some of the nation's oldest sporting trophies in competition. The third week is given over to team competition in the service arms, .30 calibre rifle and .45 pistol.

PIRATES RECALL 13 PLAYERS FOR 1941 FLAG RACE

Pittsburgh, Aug. 31.—(P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, already planning a drive for the National League pennant next year, today recalled 13 players now in the minor leagues under option.

Those instructed to report at the close of their minor league seasons were Catcher Ray Mueller, Rochester of the International League; Outfielder Halbert Simpson, Williamsport, Eastern League; Pitchers Bill Clemensen, Elmer Rambert, Lloyd Dietz and Oadis Swigart and Infielder Edgar Leip, all of Syracuse, International League.

The following were told to report for spring training: Infielder Clarence (Ace) Parker, former football star now with Syracuse; Catcher Joe Schultz, Jr., Portland, Pacific Coast League; Outfielder Floyd Yount, Little Rock, Southern Association; Pitcher J. Addis Copple, Harrisburg, Interstate League; and Pitcher Johnny Gee, who declined to report to Albany in the Eastern League.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press
 Dolph Camilli, Dodgers—Hit homer and two singles to score three runs toward victory over Reds.
 Joe Heving and Ted Williams, Red Sox—Former pitched two-hit ball for 5 1-3 innings in relief and latter led batting attack with double and triple, knocking in deciding run against A's.
 Bob Feller and Jeff Heath, Indians—Former scored 23rd victory by being tight in pinches in the required two blows but that the other fellow scrambled out.
 Scrambling is a mighty important part of the average player's game, for to score in par he must either be uncannily accurate with his second shots or play his third shot close enough to get down in one putt.

MINOR LEAGUES

By The Associated Press
American Association
 Kansas City 3, Milwaukee 2, (10 innings).
 Louisville 3, Indianapolis 0.
 Columbus 4, Toledo 3, (11 innings).
Interstate
 Reading 2-0, Wilmington 1-2.
 Trenton 10-4, Allentown 5-3.
 York 3-7, Lancaster 1-8.

PROGRAM OF JALLOPY RACES BOOKED SUNDAY

A program of jallop races will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Satan's Bowl of Death, Big Tree-Sugar Grove Road. Added attraction, car goes over 75 foot cliff, and a regular program of races with the drivers from Pennsylvania and those from New York. State have cooked up a little bit of driving competition among themselves.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

Well, it was a nice short summer. For us, autumn officially begins on Monday when the whistle blows for the opening kick-off of the scholastic grid season, and it will remain fall until Heimie Kolpien issues his first call for basketball candidates. Of the boys who will don the blue and white on Labor Day and rush out to heard the Lions, only one—Walt Federicks—has ever played a full game of varsity ball. Joe Tamburine, the other letterman, worked nearly half of each game last year, but Tony Massa was generally regarded as the first-string signal caller. So it can readily be seen that the 1940 edition of the Dragons will be a little green, but there is a lot of potential strength in evidence.

Last year the Lions "whupped" our boys unmercifully, but somehow we don't think there will be any such 33-0 lacing handed out this season—in fact, we aren't at all convinced that the Leidigmen haven't got a chance. Coach Drake has lost a couple of huskies, too, and neither team has had an opportunity to show its stuff under fire. Last season the Lions got rolling early in the game and couldn't be halted for so much as an instant, but the following Saturday the great St. Vincent team came in for what they expected would be a warm-up, and were dained lucky to go home with a 13-6 victory. The Dragons this year face opponents who can neither be ranked as push-overs or sure-fire winners, and neither defeat nor victory will often be termed an "upset."

Stu Maguire, of the Jamestown Journal, dipped his typewriter nib in vitriol the other evening and dashed off a little treatise on the attitude of the Bradford city government as compared with the attitude of the Jamestown municipal solons, and Stu's offering is well worth re-reading. He observes that the "spoil sports" of the Pennsylvania community, through the city council, have refused to lease Community Park to the Boston club and then points out that Mayor Leon F. Roberts announces that, while there isn't sufficient money in the current budget, he proposes to provide the funds somehow. Stu continues: "It might interest the Bradfordites to learn that Bob Quinn, Sr. isn't going to take this treatment sitting down. He's ready to rear on his haunches and make somebody like it. . . . Strangely, the Bradford spoil sports refuse to realize that some club must inhabit the neither regions of the PL standings. . . . It mustn't be Bradford, they assert, or something to that effect. . . . It's whole hog or none for Bradford. . . . And it may jolly well turn out to be none!"

The Jamestown sports savant also comments: "The bleeding hearts of Bradford have been malcontents most all season. . . . their disgust dating back to the period when it became manifest that Bradford might not win the 1940 goudalon. . . . For even such a formidable organization as the Boston Bocs to promise to produce a championship club isn't sufficient guarantee of the reality. . . . There are five other clubs in the Pony League equally intent upon a titular team, and baseball being what it is, the battle must be won on the field and not in Page 1 editorials. . . . Since Russell Field is being partially fenced, Mr. Quinn might elect, to keep his Bradford territorial rights and conceive means to put a club in Warren, and not necessarily under the Bees banner, either. . . . In about a quarter century of interest in the national pastime, this writer has never heard of a shabbier tactic than that employed by Bradford's city council. . . . That's why we admire the forthright insistence of our own mayor that the local stadium project be brought to a speedy and successful conclusion."

YEARS AGO IN SPORTS
 August 31, 1920—Exactly ten percentage points now separate Chicago, Cleveland and New York in the American League, in the order named. In the National League, Brooklyn tops the Cincinnati average by two points, with New York behind Cincinnati by only 13 percentage points. Cleveland, with Speaker back in form, is playing better ball than the Yankees or White Sox and is making up ground.
 August 31, 1930—The State-Bankers brought the Sunset League to a close by defeating the Barrette Cleaners, 6-4, on the State Hospital diamond. Bill Smith allowed only three hits, but seven walks proved disastrous for the Barrettes. "Stumpy" Weisner chalked up another victory, with only six hits garnered from his offerings. Two of the State-Bankers' trio of hits were slapped out by Joe Gardner.

Sports Round-up

By EDDIE BRIETZ
 New York, Aug. 31.—News: If you like the Yanks you can get 3-1 in Jack Doyle's book. . . . Mike Jacobs reported shifting from Billy Conn to Pat Comiskey as Joe Louis' next opponent.
 Banks McFadden's successor in the Pittsburgh spot at Clemson will be Joe Blalock, an end, who chucks aeriels from the port side and is the only triple threat in sight. . . . Welby Van Horn, young coast net star, wants to break into baseball and was auditioned by the Red Sox last week. . . . The football Dodgers offered Nile Kinnick a $7,000 contract. . . . Ky Laffoon has 75,000 yards in the bank and doesn't give a whoop if he never wins another golf tourney.

They're The Tops
 They'll not win the pennant, but the White Sox are the American League's champion jockeys. . . . They stand in a body and applaud loudly whenever Joe McCarthy makes a rare emergence from the dugout, thanking him for a personal appearance. . . . And they're getting under the Indians' hides by suggesting it would be nice if you could run bases as fast as they run up the steps to Owner Bradley's office.

Today's Guest Star
 John Mooney, Salt Lake Telegrapher: "No wonder Oscar Vitt worries the Indians with his antics. . . . You'd squirm, too, if the apple of your eye (Bobby Feller) suddenly turned into a crab apple." (Turn to Page Nine)

SNEAD RALLIES Feller Touched For Dozen Hits But Jeff Heath Saves Contest ON LAST NINE TO DEFEAT SARAZEN

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 31.—(P)—Sam Snead, pre-tournament favorite every time the professional golfers get together, stood on the threshold again today with only two players barring his way to the really big victory his all-around ability merits.

His performance yesterday in defeating Gene Sarazen, three PGA champions wiped out the memory of tournaments in which he has been a front runner and felled.

Snead's one up triumph after a 36-hole uphill fight put him against Harold (Jug) McSpaden, whom he had to play off to win the Canadian Open several weeks ago. In the other bracket, Byron Nelson meets Ralph Guldahl.

Sarazen nearly carried his thrust to "Give Sam a golf lesson." The doughty squirrel bounded around in fine style for 27 holes and was three up. That was the signal for his 38 years to start protesting, however.

"My legs feel like tons," said Gene and shortly thereafter it was quite evident. He slipped to a back nine 38 for a 71 after a morning round of 68.

Snead fired three birdies from the 27th hole on his third on the 34th putting him ahead for the first time in the day.

Old Man Sarazen walked that last hole mightily slowly but Snead was spy and that was the difference.

"I'll never play in another PGA," Gene mused later, "it's too tough at my age." He's been saying that for years and each time arrives on opening day, hits a half dozen balls off the practice tee and starts out.

They don't make competition stiffer than the kind Guldahl got today from Ben Hogan, the Texas pile driver.

Guldahl won 3 and 2, which sounds easy. But Ralph had to shoot one of the most amazing rounds of his career to win. In the morning Guldahl shot a 69 to go two up, against Hogan's 71.

Hogan came smacking right back after lunch with an outgoing 33. Again Guldahl bettered this with a 32, only one shot over the course record. It was the same story on the remaining holes. On six holes a birdie was good enough for a tie.

Nelson and McSpaden had breezes. Byron brushed aside Eddie Kirk, Framington, Mich., dark horse, by a 6 and 5 margin.

McSpaden caught Paul Runyan when the little fellow, twice winner of this tournament, simply couldn't hit the ball straight, and the result was an 8 and 6 win.

TWO-YEAR-OLDS IN BATTLE FOR CROWN

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(P)—Whirlaway and New World carry their battle for the two-year-old crown into extra innings today but a horse called Attention might come out of the pack to beat them both.

While public interest is centered on the rubber meeting of the pair in the $42,000, six and a half furlong, Hopeful Stakes, closing day co-feature with the Chalden-Isolater duel in the Saratoga Cup, Attention, Mrs. Parker Corning's good early season stake winner, has been training beautifully for his turn at bat.

Whirlaway, owned by Warren Wright and ridden by Johnny Longden, whipped Alfred Vanderbilt's New World in the Saratoga Special Bad racing luck cost him his chance in their second meeting last Saturday and Sonny Workman, who had New World away winning, kept him on top to the finish. Attention did not run in either race.

JOE NAGLE DAY TO BE HELD AT IRVINE SUNDAY

The management of the National Forge today announced that Sunday afternoon will be "Joe Nagle Day" at Wilder Field, when the veteran infielder who originally hailed from Jamestown will be honored.

It is expected a large crowd from Warren and Jamestown will be on hand to give a hand to the 40-year-old third baseman who has piloted many teams from the hill-top and at one time was a member of the Warren independents.

The Forgers will meet Natrona, state semi-pro champions who have just returned from the national tourney at Wichita, Kans. The game will begin at 2:30 o'clock with Bill Caffrey on the peak and Mark Catling, Rosequist, who is still handicapped by a broken hand, will play right field in place of Dick Giegerich, injured in an automobile crash last Sunday.

Nagle is now leading the Forgers in the hitting department, slapping the apple at a .372 clip, and is the sparkplug of the infield.

One of Nagle's greatest seasons was in 1937 when he was drafted by the Warren Indians in 19 games he batted .443 and accepted fifty chances at third base without a single misare.

This afternoon the Forge is scheduled to clash with Brockway.

Grayson's SCOREBOARD

BY HARRY GRAYSON
 NEA Service Sports Editor

HIS being barred from the National Amateur on the eve of the qualifying trial in August because of a book he wrote in January may be a "shyme," as James Ferrier, the Australian, says, but I agree with the United States Golf Association in its refusal to permit alleged simon-pures from jimmyming in on the professionals.

Jim Ferrier's publishing of an instructive booklet, and accepting royalties is tantamount to his giving a long series of lessons at $4 or $5 a pop.

Ferrier was permitted to play in the United States Open in June as an amateur, but his book was not brought to the attention of the amateur status and conduct committee until shortly before it acted.

Where would the professionals get off if all amateur luminaries were permitted to write instructive matter?

And what right has a player, outstanding enough to make a success of such illustrations and writing, to compete against amateurs?

AMATEURS—Chick Evans, Bobby Jones, Mrs. Glenna Collet Vare and Lawson Little among them—have written and posed for stuff of an instructive nature before, but not since the current rule interpretation was decided upon in 1935.

What went on in the past does not clear the way for Ferrier now. Ferrier, traveling $1,000 miles at his own expense, arrived in this country in February, and has been playing golf ever since. He has been in the Australian Open and Amateur Champion two years hand running. . . . hasn't been above 75 in his native land in five years.

He writes instructive pieces for Sydney publications.

AMERICAN professionals more or less treat Ferrier as a money player. On his arrival here, Ferrier explained why he had not turned professional.

"Australian professionals earn only $1500 a year," he pointed out. "They collect only 300 pounds even though they win all purses." There is no question but that Jim Ferrier came to the United States to enhance his prestige as a golfer, and to capitalize on it at home.

He didn't have to turn professional to do that in Australia. But he will have to make the jump to do so in this country. Which is the way it should be.

GOLFING TIPS

BY HAROLD SMITH
Professional at Conewago Valley C. C.

SCRAMBLING
You've heard tournament players say, "I outplayed him, but he won." Golf scores sometimes don't really indicate the better player since it is commonly known that the par four holes are supposed to consist of a drive, an approach, and two putts, so what the first player usually means is that he hit the most greens in the required two blows but that the other fellow scrambled out.

Scrambling is a mighty important part of the average player's game, for to score in par he must either be uncannily accurate with his second shots or play his third shot close enough to get down in one putt.

Most 85 to 90 shooters are grand golfers but for that extra putt which give them fives where they might get fours.

It takes a great deal of golf to hit those greens in two. But it takes mostly practice on these short scrambling shots which make the one putt an easy one.

Since it doesn't take great skill and it doesn't take strength most elderly golfers have perfected this short game.

The shots you'll need to know are: the explosion shot from sand, the short niblick pitch over rough or trap, the run up shot off the apron, and the chip shot out of the surrounding whiskers of the green.

Once the proper method on each of these is learned, you can miss the more difficult long second shot and still score with the club champion.

Well, it was a nice short summer. For us, autumn officially begins on Monday when the whistle blows for the opening kick-off of the scholastic grid season, and it will remain fall until Heinie Kolpen issues his first call for basketball candidates. Of the boys who will don the blue and white on Labor Day and rush out to beat the Lions, only one—Yan Fredericks—has ever played a full game of varsity ball. Joe Tamburine, the other letterman, worked nearly half of each game last year, but Tony Massa was generally regarded as the first-string signal caller. So, it can readily be seen that the 1940 edition of the Dragons will be a little green, but there is a lot of potential strength in evidence.

Last year the Lions "whupped" our boys unmercifully, but somehow we don't think there will be any such 33-0 lacing handed out this season—in fact, we aren't at all convinced that the Leigidmen haven't got a chance. Coach Drake has lost a couple of huskies, too, and neither team has had an opportunity to show its stuff under fire. Last season the Lions got rolling early in the game and couldn't be halted for so much as an instant, but the following Saturday the great Strong Vincent team in for what they expected would be a warm-up, and were damned lucky to go home with a 13-6 victory. The Dragons this year face opponents who can neither be ranked as push-overs or sure-fire winners, and neither defeat nor victory will often be termed an "upset."

Stu Maguire, of the Jamestown Journal, dipped his typewriter ribbon in vitriol the other evening and dashed off a little treatise on the attitude of the Bradford city government as compared with the attitude of the Jamestown municipal solons, and Stu's offering is well worth re-reading. He observes that the "spoils sports" of the Pennsylvania community, through the city council, have refused to lease Community Park to the Boston club and then points out that Mayor Leon F. Roberts announces that, while there isn't sufficient money in the current budget, he proposes to provide the funds somehow. Stu continues: "It might interest the Bradfordites to learn that Bob Quinn, Sr., isn't going to take this treatment sitting down. . . . He's ready to rear on his haunches and make somebody like it. . . . Strangely, the Bradford spoils refuse to realize that some club must inhabit the nether regions of the PL standings. . . . It mustn't be Bradford, they assert, or something to that effect. . . . It's whole hog or none for Bradford. . . . And it may jolly well turn out to be none!"

The Jamestown sports savant also comments: "The bleeding hearts of Bradford have been malcontents most all season. . . . their disgust dating back to the period when it became manifest that Bradford might not win the 1940 gonfalon. . . . For even such a formidable organization as the Boston Blues to put use to produce a championship club isn't sufficient guarantee of the reality. . . . There are five other clubs in the Pony League equally intent upon a titular team and, baseball being what it is, the battle must be won on the field and not in Page 1 editorials. . . . Since Russell Field is being partially fenced, Mr. Quinn might elect to keep his Bradford territorial rights and conceive means to put a club in Warren, and not necessarily under the Bees banner, either. . . . In about a quarter century of interest in the national pastime, this writer has never heard of a shabbier tactic than that employed by Bradford's city council. . . . That's why we admire the forthright insistence of our own mayor that the local stadium project be brought to a speedy and successful conclusion."

August 31, 1920—Exactly ten percentage points now separate Chicago, Cleveland and New York in the American League, in the order named. In the National League, Brooklyn tops the Cincinnati average by two points, with New York behind Cincinnati by only 13 percentage points. Cleveland, with Speaker back in form, is playing better ball than the Yankees or White Sox and is making up ground.

August 31, 1930—The State-Bankers brought the Sunset League to a close by defeating the Barrette Cleaners, 6-4, on the State Hospital diamond. Bill Smith allowed only three hits, but seven walks proved disastrous for the Barrettes. "Skinny" Weidert chalked up another victory, with only six hits garnered from his offerings. Two of the State-Bankers' trio of hits were slapped out by Joe Gardner.

SNEAD RALLIES ON LAST NINE TO DEFEAT SARAZEN

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 31.—(P)—Sam Snead, pre-tournament favorite every time the professional golfers get together, stood on the threshold again today with only two players barring his way to the really big victory his all-around ability merits.

His performance yesterday in defeating Gene Sarazen, PGA champion, wiped out the memory of tournaments in which he has been a front runner and folded.

Snead's one up triumph after a 36-hole uphill fight put him against Harold (Jug) McSpaden, whom he had to play off to win the Canadian Open several weeks ago. In the other bracket, Byron Nelson meets Ralph Guldahl.

Sarazen nearly carried out his threat to "give Sam a golf lesson." The doughy squirrel bounded around in fine style for 27 holes and was three up. That was the signal for his 38 years to start protesting, however.

"My legs feel like tons," said Gene and shortly thereafter it was quite evident. He slipped to a back nine 38 for a 74 after a morning round of 68.

Snead fired three birdies from the 27th hole on, his third on the 34th, putting him ahead for the first time in the day.

Old Man Sarazen walked that last hole mightily slowly but Snead was spry and that was the difference.

"I'll never play in another PGA," Gene mused later, "it's too tough at my age." He's been saying that for years and each time arrives on opening day, hits a half dozen balls off the practice tee and starts out.

They don't make competition stiffer than the kind Guldahl got today from Ben Hogan, the Texas pile driver.

Guldahl won 3 and 2, which sounds easy. But Ralph had to shoot one of the most amazing rounds of his career to win. In the morning Guldahl shot a 69 to go two up, against Hogan's 71.

Hogan came smacking right back after lunch with an outgoing 33. Again Guldahl bettered this with a 32, only one shot over the course record. It was the same story on the remaining holes. On six holes a birdie was good enough only for a tie.

Nelson and McSpaden had breezes. Byron brushed aside Eddie Kirk, Framington, Mich., dark horse, by a 6 and 5 margin. McSpaden caught Paul Runyan when the little fellow, twice winner of this tournament, simply couldn't hit the ball straight, and the result was an 8 and 6 win.

TWO-YEAR-OLDS IN BATTLE FOR CROWN

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(P)—Whirlaway and New World carry their battle for the two-year-old crown into extra innings today but a horse called Attention might come out of the pack to beat them both.

While public interest is centered on the rubber meeting of the pair in the $45,000, six and a half furlong Hopeful Stakes, closing day co-feature with the Chalden-Isol later duel in the Saratoga Cup, Attention, Mrs. Parker Corning's good early season stake winner, has been training beautifully for his turn at bat.

Whirlaway, owned by Warren Wright and ridden by Johnny Longden, whipped Alfred Vanderbilt's New World in the Saratoga Special Bad racing luck cost him his chance in their second meeting last Saturday and Sonny Workman, who had New World away winning, kept him on top to the finish. Attention did not run in either race.

Feller Touched For Dozen Hits But Jeff Heath Saves Contest

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The weather man hasn't been very hopeful this week in the efforts of the major league baseball clubs to iron out their pennant problems, but there is no indication that they could have accomplished anything even if he had been.

The Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers collided in a two game series that ought to have provided fireworks and instead fizzled like a damp fuse. The two games were split and the only difference they made in the National League flag chase was that Brooklyn, failing to improve itself, muffed a chance it could ill afford in the shortening days of the season.

The three top teams in the American League continued their parade with no important change.

It now appears that neither Cleveland's back nor Bobby's Feller's heart was broken in that boisterous series the New York Yankees swept last weekend.

Feller gave the Indians their second straight victory last night, 4-2, at Chicago after saving their scalps with a relief appearance at Washington on Monday.

The White Sox have been close cousins of the Tribe all season, handing over 13 out of 17 games and the result last night was not surprising even for the 44,877 fans who watched the affair.

Feller permitted a dozen hits to eight Cleveland collected off Lefty Thornton Lee, but Jeff Heath gave him a three-run lead with a homer in the first frame.

Bobby struck out 10 for his 23rd victory which lifted the Tribe to 2½ games ahead of Detroit and 2½ over New York, both idle.

The Boston Red Sox also closed in on the Yankees from behind by putting the Philadelphia Athletics through a 5-4 wringer. Ted Williams knocked the winning run across with a triple in the seventh inning to capitalize on Joe Eving's fine relief pitching, which permitted the A's only two hits in 5 1-3 innings.

Brooklyn trampled Cincinnati's champions 6-2 in the only game in the National League. The loss left the Reds 7½ game in front.

The commercial airlines, from the period between May 1, 1939, and May 1, 1940, carried 2,028,817 passengers, 87,325,145 miles without a fatality—and without a pilot fatality on our country's airlines in 16 months.

Grayson's SCOREBOARD

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

HIS being barred from the National Amateur on the eve of the qualifying trial in August because of a book he wrote in January may be a "shyme," as James Ferrier, the Australian, says, but I agree with the United States Golf Association in its refusal to permit alleged simon-pures from jimminy-ing on the professionals.

Jim Ferrier's publishing of an instructive book, and accepting royalties is tantamount to his giving a long series of lessons at $4 or $5 a pop.

Ferrier was permitted to play in the United States Open in June as an amateur, but his book was not brought to the attention of the amateur status and conduct committee until shortly after it acted.

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanne Bowman

YESTERDAY: On her return Constance finds that her family has published reports that the ranch will be sold and has received credit. They are entertaining lavishly. Constance, keeping her arrival secret, is nabbed by detectives.

Chapter 15

Appeal To John

THE French doors opened from the solarium and John Raskthorne stepped out, intent upon lighting a cigar.

"John!" Raskthorne wheeled—"Constance... Constance what are you... take your things and get out of here! You're a detective!"

Constance, released, fled into the security of John's arms. "Will you tell these idiots that I am a Cabrillo? And John, make them keep still! I don't want the folks to know I'm home until after the party."

The idiots didn't need to be told anything, they had started fading into the darkness even before John bought their silence with bills; and Constance leaned for a few moments against John's shoulder, then straightened.

"I'm sorry," she apologized. "I... they frightened me and I'm tired, I couldn't sleep on the plane, and I guess I forgot to have any dinner."

John patted her shoulder. "Wait until I find my coat."

Five minutes later, Constance's little coupe, with Raskthorne at the wheel, swung out of the tradesmen's entrance.

Constance sat back watching his hands on the wheel, watching his face, reliving her feeling of restful security as she leaned against his shoulder, wondering at her feeling for John.

"I'm taking you to one of my pet hide-outs," John offered. "They'll give us a steak two inches thick."

Constance closed her eyes to shut out the vision of a little waterfront cafe and a dark-eyed man threading his way between tables, of a voice saying: "Hi, Michael."

John's "pet" was unpretentious. They went through a side door to be conducted to a private booth where curtains were immediately drawn.

"Now tell me all about it," ordered John, when the obsequious waiter had disappeared.

"Oh, John... it's wonderful! El Cabrillo, I mean, I can't give it up. It's like part of me; my blood and my flesh and my bones."

And then the words tumbled out. The waiter brought smoking platters but still Constance talked, and when John found she wouldn't stop, he took her knife and fork, cut small sections of the steak and held them to her lips.

"Oh, John," she sighed, "you are good to me. You do take care of me."

"Some day," he threatened.

Constance looked at him and saw him as other women must see him. A stalwart, handsome man, barely thirty but seasoned by the tragic passing of his parents, the worry over a madly-marrying younger sister, and by the cares of the vast estate he had inherited and which he handled alone and with wisdom.

"John," she asked impulsively, "what do you see in me that makes you say some day? Why do you wait?"

The light gray eyes in their surprising frame of jet lashes widened. "Conchita," he confessed, "I've asked myself that question a thousand times. And then I go back to our first meeting; do you remember that meeting, Chita? She remembered. But had six years passed since that night when she, awaiting the escort her mother had arranged to accompany her to the Charity Ball, had seen her little sister in stolen clothes flash in front of her; announce that she was Miss Cabrillo, and whisk off with the waiting man?"

Father, Brother, Counselor

SHE had "whisked" only as far as the elevators, then the escort had returned. "Now that the child has returned, Miss Cabrillo, shall we go on?" John Raskthorne had asked.

And to her query: "How did you know?" He had replied, "When your mother telephoned she was too ill to accompany you, father told me to look for the girl with the most beautiful eyes in the world."

It had been helm to the eighteen-year-old heart of Constance, just as other rescues, since that time, had soothed her heart and her pride.

It had been John who had helped them move from hotel to apartment, apartment to hotel, hotel to house, John who had taken the place of father, brother, counselor.

"I thought then," said John, handing Constance her cup of hot milk, "that you'd need someone to help you cope with your family. I elected myself."

"John, were you coping with Donna when the detectives started coping with me?"

"Yes," he admitted. "To be frank, I was giving her merry hades for throwing this party."

"Then you do agree something must be done to check them?"

"Unquestionably."

"John, then... then will you help me raise the money I will need to make El Cabrillo a modern, paying ranch?"

Because John Raskthorne was not a man to make promises he could not fulfill, or so Constance thought, he did not commit himself. They drove to a secluded bank and watched the river wind its way between jeweled shores and Constance talked. She told of Mrs. MacKelvey and her success; of the railroad; of the history of Old Michael Mahoney and of Peter Taylor, senior.

Not until she had slipped into the house with no one yet aware of her return, did she question her failure to speak of Pedro.

John had said he would see her at his office at three o'clock and they would discuss business in a business setting. Constance crept wearily to bed with assurance that somehow John would manage.

She'd stay away from the family until after that business conference. That wouldn't be difficult. They would sleep until noon, then meet in negligee and lounging pajamas to have brunch together and discuss the previous evening at their leisure.

Constance dressed for the conference carefully. A frock of dull green, its only ornament a lobular pendant at the trim collar, shoes of the same shade and a Robin Hood hat with a gay scarlet feather. Her fur cape was cut down from a discarded coat of Donna's, though no one seeing her swing down the avenue would have thought it.

"Jaunty but business-like," she decided, looking into every shop window for reassurance as she made her way to John's office building.

An impersonal office boy turned her over to an impersonal secretary, who took her in to confront an impersonal John Raskthorne.

She sat in the indicated chair, waited a moment to acclimate herself to the change in the man since the previous evening, then spoke: "As I said last night, I need fifty thousand dollars."

"What security have you to offer?" asked Mr. Raskthorne. "None," admitted Constance frankly. "However, I will give my bond to the effect that should I fail to make a success of El Cabrillo, I will agree to the sale of it."

Fighting For A Chance

RASKTHORNE fingered a paper knife for a moment, then looked directly at Constance. "The only offer ever made for El Cabrillo stands at fifty thousand. How would you propose to pay your interest? And should you fail, how would you pay the other members of the family their share of the ranch and still be able to repay the loan?"

In her eagerness Constance moved closer. "But after the railroad goes through the property; and after I have converted it to a dairy ranch and infused it with fresh capital it will be worth more than fifty thousand."

A little smile played around Raskthorne's lips. "Have you computed the interest?" he inquired.

"Naturally. It is less than half the present profit on El Cabrillo."

"And you would expect the other members of the family to reduce their expenses to half of what they are now enjoying?"

Constance laughed. "Not my family. I'd set aside their present portion at the very beginning."

"Conchita," John dropped his business barrier. "On what do you base your belief that El Cabrillo could be sold for more than the present offer, say, after a period of three years?"

Constance relaxed. "That's simple," she told him. "El Cabrillo is the last long stretch of coastline in that section. There are fifty miles of it. Suppose, in an emergency, we should cut that to five miles and set it aside for summer homes. We could command and receive much more than a thousand for each section and wouldn't be touching the ranch proper. The ranch has no need of the coastline as long as it retains enough for right of way to the highway."

Raskthorne looked at Constance, then looked away quickly, drew a pad to him and began jotting down figures.

"Suppose," he said, "I were to offer you fifty thousand for the ranch, with the proviso that upon ownership I would divide the coast into summer tracts and give you Cabrillo's fifty per-cent of the profit?"

"No, no, John!" Constance jumped up. "Don't you see? I'm fighting for the chance to hold El Cabrillo as it is. Cutting it up would be like... like carving bits of a body I loved."

"Why, John, even the Taylors wouldn't consider that!"

They wouldn't, she knew and for the first time realized that they loved the place as she did. It wasn't stewardship that had caused them to keep it as they had, but a driving urge to preserve something beautiful in its entirety.

She hated them for this as a woman might hate another woman, for finding in her man the same qualities she loved.

Raskthorne tapped his pencil on the desk. "Wonder why no one else has thought of the ranch as an investment," he mused.

"They couldn't," explained Constance. "You know the terms of father's will. We can't sell less than the whole; and no real estate firm, or individual, would buy two thousand acres to sell less than half of it."

Personals

Red Barber (he's tops) is all signed up to broadcast the World's Series. George Barton, Jr., son of the sports editor of the Minneap. Morning Tribune, now has his own dance band and has just finished a record run at the swank Hotel Nicolet out there. Lt. Col. Heinie Miller, president of the N.E.A., has his Fifth Marine Corps reserve battalion training at Lakehurst air station. Visitors: Jake Wade and Jack Troy who direct the sports pages of the Charlotte Observer and Atlanta Constitution down in Dixie. Say their football teams will challenge the world and make the bet's tight on yourself. Also, Max Patrick, Mississippi State drum beater.

Red Face Dept.

When Will Harridge, president of the American League, arrived at Comiskey Park recently, he found they'd sold his reserved box right out from under him. Ouch!

Conscription

Billy Conn has come out for conscription. At that, it might not be a bad idea for Uncle Sam to get him before Joe Louis does.

HOT

In the world's temperate zones an acre of land receives from the sun heat equivalent to that which would be received from burning 250 tons of high-grade coal.

Omega is the last letter of the Greek alphabet.

POOR DIET CAUSES DISEASE

About 400,000 Americans suffer from pellagra, a disease apparently caused by poor diets lacking milk, eggs, liver, greens, and fruit juices.

OBITUARY

MRS. ELLA ANN HATCH

Mrs. Ella Ann Hatch, of Stoneham, died at the Warren General Hospital at 11:50 o'clock this morning, after having been a patient there since August 27. The widow of Marvin B. Hatch, she had been a resident of Clarendon and Stoneham for the past 50 years. She was aged 78.

Surviving are a granddaughter, Mrs. Ella Seafert, of Jamestown, N. Y., and a grandson, Donald Cross, of Panama, N. Y.

Removal was made to the Lutz Funeral Home where friends may call at any time and from where funeral services will be held at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Interment will be made in Oakland cemetery. (Jamestown papers please copy)

BENJAMIN S. SLATER

Benjamin S. Slater, of Butler, who has been visiting for the past three weeks in Sheffield, died there today at the home of a brother, Gust Slater. Another brother, Joseph Slater, also resides in Sheffield. Mr. Slater, 70 years of age, had been in ill health since coming here.

Removal was made to the Borden Funeral Home, where friends may call until Tuesday morning, when the body will be taken to Butler for funeral services and burial.

Peasants Threaten Defiance

would impose such an "injustice" on Rumania.

At public mass meetings in Transylvania those who signed the agreement were branded as "traitors." Church bells tolled throughout the night in doleful protest.

(Hungary's German minority of some half million prepared to take advantage of the new German minority pact signed as a companion measure to the Vienna award. The first development expected was the authorization of the formation of a Nazi party.

(Under this concession—as one price for the return of northern Transylvania to Hungary—Germans here now will be permitted to organize freely in "expressing their national convictions.")

Meanwhile the agreement of slicing off another big bite of Rumanian territory—the return of southern Dobruja to Bulgaria—45 hours at Craiova. An exchange of populations in this area was underway during the day at this border town.

All of Rumania went into mourning over the Axis dictated territorial cessions.

The Rumanian Crown Council conferred until early morning on "new problems of exceptional importance" after ceding more than half of Transylvania to Hungary under a German-Italian "arbitration award" designed to stabilize Balkan peace for the Axis benefit.

Police guarded the council's palace session with saved-off shotguns as official quarters, aside from the reference to important problems, declined to disclose the new issues facing King Carol and his advisers.

All Bucharest theaters, movies and night clubs were ordered closed for an indefinite period of national mourning, and music was forbidden in restaurants.

Unreconciled Rumanians formed "defense corps" in parts of Transylvania, and from the province capital, Cluj, came a petition bearing thousands of signatures lauding Julius Manlu, Rumanian peasant party leader, for his opposition to the cession and calling "traitors" those who agreed to it.

Moscow, Aug. 31—(P)—The Soviet Russian press recorded without comment today the agreement whereby Rumania yielded northern Transylvania to Hungary in exchange for a German-Italian guarantee of the remainder of her territory.

Newspapers published brief factual accounts of the Vienna conference at which the agreement was reached, but devoted their editorials to the fifth anniversary of the Stakhanovite (industrial speedup) movement.

Some diplomatic sources expressed belief the matter of the Bessarabian frontier which has led to recent clashes between Russian and Rumanian troops would be settled by a point boundary commission.

positions in defense industries.

The National Guard bureau said the secretary, preparing for expected mobilization of the guard next month, had sent the request to commanding officers to make an advisory inspection of the guard's federal authorities having no direct jurisdiction over the guard in peacetime.

The two largest engine contracts let so far were made public by the army and navy this week. They call for the manufacture of 20,000 Wright motors by the Wright Aeronautical Corporation and 17,000 Pratt and Whitney motors by United Aircraft Corporation.

Previously, 3,000 Rolls-Royce motors had been ordered from the Packard Motor Company—which also agreed to produce 6,000 for Great Britain—and arrangements were made with General Motors Corporation to produce Allison aircraft engines.

All these contracts, and probably others yet to come, foreshadow a huge expansion of manufacturing facilities. Only a few months ago Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, acting as President Roosevelt's coordinator of British and American purchases, said engines constituted a defense "bottleneck" because of limited production space.

In construction of new plants emphasis is expected to be placed on inland locations in line with the policy of avoiding vulnerable plant concentrations and obtaining maximum safety from air attack.

DRAFT BILL DEBATE TO START TUESDAY

Washington, Aug. 31—(P)—Various sections of the Burke-Wadsworth military training bill aroused scattered opposition in the House today, but all critics apparently agreed that even a combination of their forces would not defeat the legislation next week.

As preparations to start debate Tuesday were in progress, informed members predicted that the principal fights would develop over two provisions:

1. That fixing 21 to 44, inclusive as the age range of men who would register and be subject to conscription.

2. That giving the government power to take over industrial plants for defense purposes.

and fired, striking the man in the chest.

Nothing was found in the man's pockets to identify him and the person who had accused him of threatening to shoot could not be located.

Explosives Are Dropped By RAF in Nazi Capital

hundreds of anti-aircraft guns as they roared over the capital in several groups.

Authorities said the nearest threat to a military objective struck by the bombers was the vast Siemens Schuckert electrical works in West Berlin.

Newspaper correspondents rushed to the plant in five automobiles, where they saw the effect of one high explosive bomb which hit the corner of a one-story brick building in which lumber was being seasoned.

The bomb ripped out about 60 feet of the wall.

In Linden street a few doors from the bombed fire department headquarters an explosive bomb unroofed and extensively damaged the two top floors of an office building occupied by the Reich Medical Chamber (an organization corresponding to the American Medical Association).

The correspondents, conducted about town in a procession led at one time by two generals, could not visit every spot where incendiary bombs had landed.

Officials said the British fliers had tossed them out liberally and haphazardly, with only a few hitting vulnerable spots. The correspondents did not visit Tempelhof airdrome (to which they were taken on Thursday morning), but were told that one bomb had landed in a distant field, causing no damage.

The raiders came in two waves. Authorities said most of the incendiary bombs were dropped by the first wave, followed by high explosive bombers who headed in the general direction of the blitzes started by the fire bombs.

Enemy Routed in Big Battle at Coast Town

(From Page One)

August 15, when the Luftwaffe (literally, German air arm) struck first in the London area with a dive-bomber attack on the Croydon air field.

The all-clear signal sounded 55 minutes later.

ACE German pilots of the "yellow nose" squadron of Messerschmitt fighters were reported routed in a great battle over what the British called "suicidal" attacks on balloons.

An unofficial count of the day's German losses, which usually runs ahead of ministry communiques, said that by early afternoon the Germans had lost 14 bombers and fighters.

The 14th plane, by this count, fell in flames on farmlands in southeast England, just missing rooftops.

Some of the raiders dived in across the channel penetrated the London defense area in the third raid but the British said the two morning thrusts were beaten back.

About the time of the third thrust against London an elderly Swiss couple was remanded in custody at a West London court, charged with having made torch signals three days ago under circumstances which authorities charged indicated they were trying to guide raiding planes.

The prisoners, Emil Wirp, 62, and his wife, Alma, 61, denied the charge.

A dogfight raged over a south-east town as the Germans sought to stab into the London zone about 60 miles from the Dover coast. Spitfires, British fighting planes which can climb to 11,000 feet in less than five minutes, were reported to have checked a large bomber formation before it crossed the channel.

A movie cameraman, filming action on the Dover "battleground" got a bullet which pierced his tin hat. German planes were attacking a balloon barrage at the time.

Two formations of Nazi bombers under fighter plane escort swept over the southeast coast this morning, with about a dozen bombers and 30 Messerschmitts in the second.

RAF fighters roared into action, and early reports on the battle said nine Nazi craft out of a squadron of 30 bombers and fighters were shot down. Watchers on the coast said the British defenders "scattered the German formations all over the sky."

London, meanwhile, had been under air raid alarm for ten hours and seven minutes in the 24 hours since the sirens shrieked their shrill warning at 11:46 a. m. yesterday.

This morning's raid came as thousands of Londoners were on their way to work. Trains maintained uninterrupted service and street traffic was undiminished.

Labor Day to be Comparatively Quiet For Citizens of Warren

Employees of the Times-Mirror will join with others in observing the holiday and ask that all advertising and news copy be brought to business and editorial offices early Tuesday morning to insure publication that day.

For many the outstanding event will be the official opening of the High School Dragons' grid season, when Coach J. E. Leidig matches his players against the Eric Academy team at Russell Field at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

At the Country Club, members will turn out for a mixed foursome and kicker's handicap, with luncheon at the clubhouse at noon. A pre-holiday dinner-dance is being held at the club this evening, with good reservation list.

Several group gatherings have been announced for the holiday that will bring visitors from a distance. At Scandia, all present and former Elk township residents will join in a program which marks the annual homecoming, an event always attended by several hundred persons. A rally of Sunday school workers and young people at the Church of the Nazarene will bring representatives from all over northwestern Pennsylvania, and the convention of the fourth district, North American Swiss Alliance, will bring delegates from an even larger area.

Indications that the traffic would be heavy in the Warren area over the double holiday were noted as early as Friday evening when hundreds of touring motorists passed through Warren. There was no letup in the heavy traffic today in spite of the steady precipitation.

Stock Market Rally Stalls

New York, Aug. 31—(P)—The stock market rally stalled today but most leaders refused to give ground to any great extent and many were able to add fractions to Friday's gains.

Growing confidence in the British chances against the Nazis, coupled with the exceptionally hopeful business outlook at home, brokers said, limited profit selling and liquidation by those who wished to lighten commitments over the long week-end.

Numerous traders got away early on their holiday which will extend to Tuesday and boardrooms were more or less deserted. The exchange, as well as all other domestic markets, will be closed Monday for Labor Day.

Many Driven From Homes in Southern Flood

Canton reported the downtown area under four feet of water. Officials at Waynesville said that at least 60 persons were driven from riverside and lowland homes.

Floods which swept the western area of the state three weeks ago brought death to 24 persons and caused heavy property loss.

While floods harried the western section of the state, a tropical storm attended by hurricane winds was reported in a 3:30 a. m. (EST) weather advisory about 250 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, moving northwestward about 15 miles an hour.

Canton was advised for all vessels in the path of what the advisory termed a "severe storm," and precaution also was advised for shipping and other maritime interests along the North Carolina capes and northward.

Crew of Eight Leaps Safely From a Bomber

ported there was no explanation why the motor cut out. The bombers are supposed to maintain flight on either of the motors alone.

Lieut. Henry P. King of San Marcos, Tex., co-pilot, reported that when he last looked at the altimeter it registered 4,000 feet and was dropping 150 feet a second.

One engine was ripped loose from the wreckage. Air corps officers expected to salvage the motors and instruments.

Others in the bomber were: Sgt. H. A. Davis, Tacoma; Sgt. D. T. Delong, Independence, Mo.; Privates T. H. Slitt, Pipeston, Minn.; W. L. Huntley, Riverbank, Calif.; H. W. Dullinger, San Fernando, Calif., and W. A. James.

The correspondents, conducted about town in a procession led at one time by two generals, could not visit every spot where incendiary bombs had landed.

Officials said the British fliers had tossed them out liberally and haphazardly, with only a few hitting vulnerable spots. The correspondents did not visit Tempelhof airfield (to which they were taken on Thursday morning), but were told that one bomb had landed on a distant field, causing no damage.

The raiders came in two waves. Authorities said most of the incendiary bombs were dropped by the first wave, followed by high explosive bombers who headed in the general direction of the blazes started by the fire bombs.

The two largest engine contractors so far were made public by the army and navy this week. They call for the manufacture of 20,000 Wright motors by the Wright Aeronautical Corporation and 17,000 Pratt and Whitney motors by United Aircraft Corporation.

Previously, 3,000 Rolls-Royce motors had been ordered from the Packard Motor Company—which also agreed to produce 6,000 for Great Britain—and arrangements were made with General Motors Corporation to produce Allison aircraft engines.

All these contracts, and probably others yet to come, foreshadow a huge expansion of manufacturing facilities. Only a few months ago Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, acting as President Roosevelt's coordinator of British and American purchases, said engines constituted a defense "bottleneck" because of limited production space.

In construction of new plants emphasis is expected to be placed on inland locations in line with the policy of avoiding vulnerable plant concentrations and obtaining maximum safety from air attack.

DRAFT BILL DEBATE TO START TUESDAY
Washington, Aug. 31.—(P)—Various sections of the Burke-Wadsworth military training bill aroused scattered opposition in the House today, but all critics apparently agreed that even a combination of their forces would not defeat the legislation next week.

As preparations to start debate Tuesday went on behind the scenes, informed members predicted that the principal fights would develop over two provisions:

1. That fixing 21 to 44, inclusive as the age range of men who would register and be subject to conscription.

2. That giving the government power to take over industrial plants for defense purposes.

hundreds of anti-aircraft guns as they poured over the capital in several groups.

Authorities said the nearest thing to a military objective struck by the bombers was the vast Siemens Schuckert electrical works in West Berlin.

METHODISTS AT SHEFFIELD HEAR YEAR'S REPORTS

The Methodist church in Sheffield held its annual meeting Wednesday evening for reports and a fine program and the pastor, Rev. Ivan E. Rossell, has submitted the following interesting report of the occasion:

The Sunday school orchestra, conducted by Dr. Allen, gave several numbers, three members of the choir sang a couple of numbers, Miss Edna M. Baynes gave a reading, and two of the orchestra members played a clarinet duet.

There were reports from the Wm. J. Society, which was organized in 1909; the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, which grew out of a Queen Esther Circle around 30 or 40 years ago; and the Woman's Home Missionary Society, for which no one seems to know the organization date.

Financial reports were given by the finance secretary and the treasurer of world service funds. The pastor also reported items of interest concerning the work of the past year. There have been in the charge, which includes the Bazaar, 24 baptisms, ten of whom were adults. In the membership records, the gains just balanced the losses, with five deaths, three transfers and eight receptions. A list of the officers and committees, as elected by the quarterly conference, was distributed; also the budget, as adopted by the official board for the coming year, in the amount of $3,961.

The pastor explained some of the changes wrought through the unification of the three denominations into The Methodist Church, including the new set-up of woman's work, the Woman's Society of Christian Service, which supercedes the Wm. J. Society, home and foreign units; the new organization for the educational work of the local church under a board of education, which replaces the former Sunday school board and enlarges its scope to head up all the educational work of the local church; and the replacement of the committees on benevolence, missions, etc., with the Council of Missions.

Following the program, the congregation adjourned to the dining room, where the Wm. J. Society ladies served cake and coffee. There were some pictures of the early Harriet McCamey Sunday School Class, which sponsored the organization of the Wm. J. Society and these proved a center of interest.

This was the first time such a meeting has been held in connection with this church, but since it is one of the new things growing out of unification, it is hoped that interest will grow and even better attendance may be had in the future.

WARREN NATIONAL BANK

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

In the Presidential campaign of 1936 there were a number of Democrats who could not follow Franklin D. Roosevelt. In 1940 there are many more. These men are honest and sincere individuals who will not compromise with their own ideals, who will not yield to the threats of the New Dealers. Many of them were to be made victims of the "purge" in 1938; but the purge was not a wild success, and since that time, the line of demarcation between Democrat and New Dealer has grown clearer and clearer.

The Democrat who believes in honest American government in the American tradition can not stomach the New Deal. Franklin D. Roosevelt has undertaken many ventures, but he has succeeded in only one enterprise: he has succeeded in splitting his own party, the party that supported him in 1932. He is no longer leader of that party. He heads a strange, hybrid organization, part radical and part racketeer, that uses him as a symbol of past glory.

This party calls itself the New Deal, but it isn't new any more. In fact it has gone back hundreds of years for its conception of government, back to the idea of centralized control which used to be called tyranny. They call it "the divine right of Roosevelt."

Incompetence, extravagance and waste are not new. They are very, very old. It should not have been hard for the New Dealers to find another leader. Almost any man could run the government the way Franklin D. Roosevelt has run it. But Roosevelt, it must be admitted, has one remarkable and, for the New Dealers, indispensable quality. He can bewilder the people. It is easy enough to run the government to the verge of bankruptcy, to stifle business and shrink the initiative of a people, but it is not so easy to make them like it. Roosevelt crowned them into unconsciousness for two terms. The New Dealers are hoping against hope that he can do it again.

But he can't. For there is still a patriotic party in the United States. As Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Republican National Chairman, said at the McNary Notification Ceremony, in introducing Governor Stassen of Minnesota, "Today there is a new Republican party; a sound, sensible, forward-looking party to which the people of this country are turning for leadership."

Into this party the real Democrats and the Independents as well as the staunch Republicans are putting their faith and their efforts to restore and to revitalize America.

DEMOCRAT

Wendell Willkie's battle against the Tennessee Valley Authority is highlighted in the lead editorial of the current issue of "The Democratic Digest," published by the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee and circulated in all states.

Willkie has only one front left to lose in this battle, "The Big Front" that power has made of him in 1940, according to the publication. In an article, "Know the Issues: Power and the People," it is charged that corporate power achieved its own candidate for the Presidency in Mr. Willkie, former president of the Commonwealth and Southern, organized in 1929 by J. P. Morgan and Company.

"The trail Willkie left in the Tennessee Valley was one of sabotage and spite," says the article, which reviews testimony in court battles between Willkie and TVA and contends it shows that bribery, bribery and corruption were employed to swing elections against TVA, and always unsuccessfully.

"Farmers labelled as 'spite lines' the power lines built by Commonwealth and Southern Company crews rushing into territory where lines were being set up to serve farmers' cooperatives with TVA power," the article reads in part, and continues, "Local cooperatives kept Willkie liemen away from their poles with shotguns."

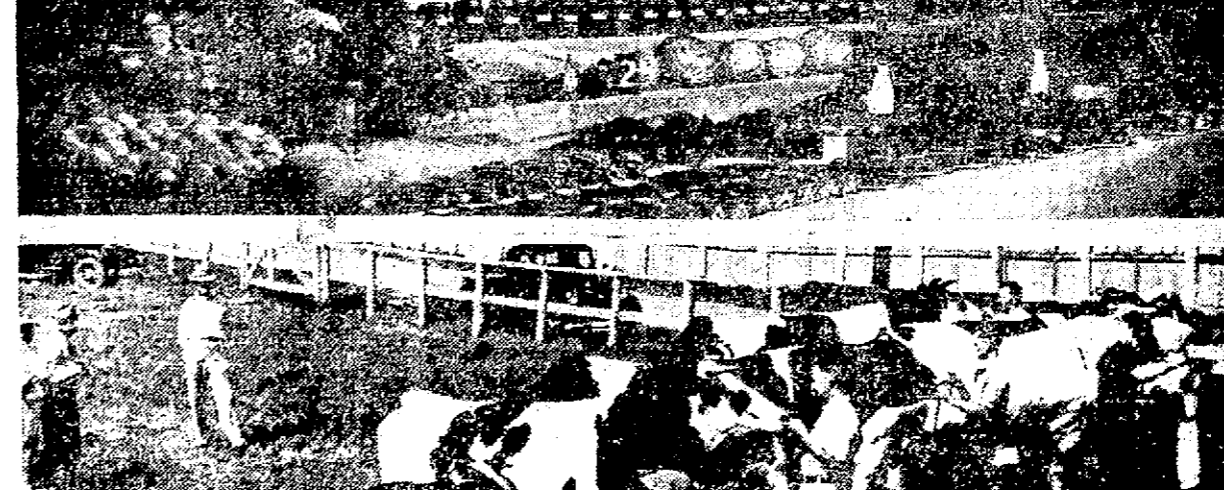

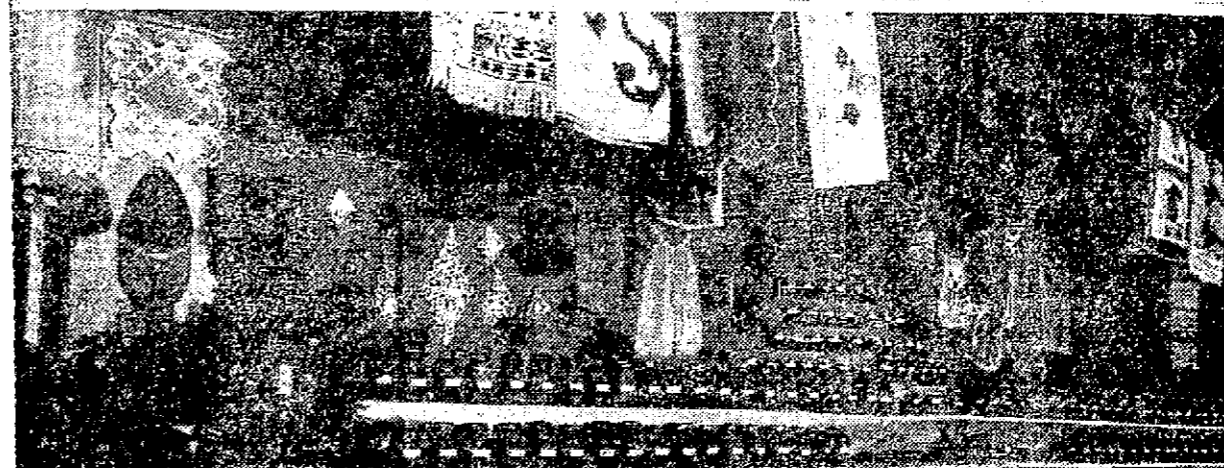

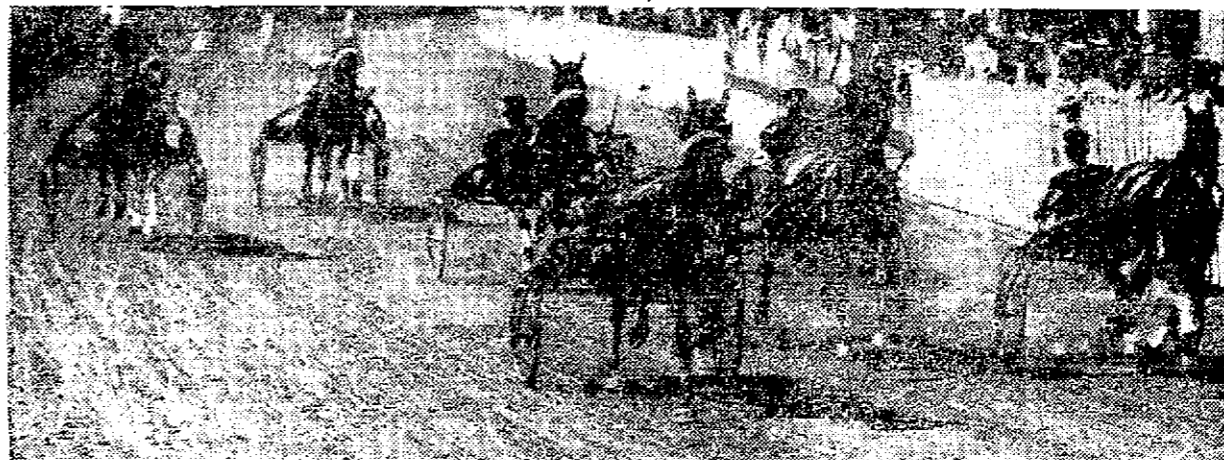

Willkie's asking price was 106 million dollars. TVA figured that a fairer price would be 37 million dollars. Eventually the government gave Willkie 78 million dollars and could probably have built a better system, brand new, for less," says the article in the Digest.

"In the power fight the Willkie way is to build 'spite lines' to buy elections, to flout the freedom of the press..." the article contends.

Willkie admitted in TVA hearings that he sent $20,000 to Chattanooga, Tenn., prior to a TVA election, and said he wished he'd sent more. The article charges the money went to the Citizens and Taxpayers Association, which testimony showed was a bogus outfit organized by the Commonwealth and Southern.

It is reported that the airlines plan to organize their own air express company this summer, and will begin operations in January, 1941, when present contracts with the Railway Express Agency will be allowed to lapse.

"Heigh, Ho! Come to the Fair"

In many Pennsylvania communities the traditional county fair is under way during the late summer and early fall season. Above you see a snappy harness racing scene. In the center a display of hand-made articles, fruits and jellies—the pride of the housewife. Below a cattle judging scene.

RESTRICTED

Ducks and cows are owned and tended only by men on the island of Bali, while the women tend chickens and pigs. Though the women do the daily cooking, most sucking pig and sea turtle dishes for banquets are prepared only by the men.

Airline travel for the first quarter of 1940 was approximately 65 per cent higher than for the same period of 1939.

DEBUNKED

Contrary to popular opinion, the bite of a black widow spider will not kill healthy human beings. It does cause severe pain and fever, however, and is enough to kill infirm people and guinea pigs.

Compulsory Training: Is It Necessary?

Questions and Answers on Subject Now
Being Debated in Congress

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special)—The bill for compulsory military training and service, now under consideration by Congress, takes cognizance of the Nazi-Fascist-Communist threat to individual freedom everywhere. It provides a means whereby the manpower of the country can be trained and mobilized to preserve peace and the American way of life.

The high points of the program are given in the following questions and answers:

Q. Why is selective training and service necessary?

A. The United States is threatened with aggression by mightily but impoverished dictator nations. Encircled by Nazi-Fascist-Communist legions 20,000,000 strong in Europe and Asia, the United States, with its vast natural resources and unparalleled industrial plant, is virtually defenseless from the military viewpoint. Our very wealth and that of other republics of the Western Hemisphere invite attack. Hitler must have the raw materials from this hemisphere if he is to achieve his dream of world domination, and he will fight for them if necessary.

Q. How can our defenses be expanded quickly to meet this threat?

A. The only answer is compulsory military training and service. The volunteer system has failed. Army recruiting program is lagging. The nation's industrial plant can be trusted with the job of building planes, guns, tanks and other material of war, but this part of the defense effort would be wasted unless sufficient manpower is trained to employ them efficiently.

Q. How would compulsory training be put into operation?

A. Under the original bill, every man between the ages of 18 and 64 would be enrolled. Those from 21 to 45 would be eligible for eight months training when called under the selective provisions of the bill. Those physically fit from 18 to 21 and 45 to 64 would be on call for training in home guard units.

Q. Does this mean that millions of men would be called out simultaneously, disrupting the nation's industrial and business life?

A. Emphatically, it does not. Through the selective provisions of the bill, every effort would be made to prevent disruption of the normal life of the country. Those needed more in industry, research, business and agriculture than in the combat forces would go into deferred classes. This also would apply, at least during peace times, to those with dependents.

Q. How many would be called for training?

A. This would be left to the determination of the President and the War and Navy Departments subject to or on motions made by Congress. Men would be called only as needed and in proportion to the material expansion of the defense equipment. There is no intention of pulling millions of men away from their jobs to have them train with broomsticks.

Q. Is compulsory training a move toward totalitarianism in this country?

A. It is not. The plan offers the only guarantee against aggression by dictator nations in the Western Hemisphere. In no other way can the necessary forces be mobilized and trained quickly. Instead of being totalitarian, the program is 100 per cent democratic.

Everybody reads the Times-Mirror.

McKEAN COUNTY FAIR

Horse racing is scheduled for Labor Day, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons at the McKean County Fair, with trotting events being staged for purses of $1200. Some of the best trotters in the east have been entered. The fair opens on Labor Day and will close Thursday with a brilliant All-American Night program.

NOTICE TO ALIENS

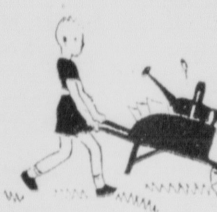

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington states that the Department of Justice today issued another warning that foreign-born residents who have taken out first papers are not exempt from the requirement that aliens register and be fingerprinted. Earl G. Harrison, director of the Alien Registration Division, said that non-citizens who expect to be sworn in as citizens before December 26, last day for alien registration, might delay registration until November 15 or December 1 on the assumption that they will know by that time whether they will become citizens before the deadline.

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

In the Presidential campaign of 1936 there were a number of Democrats who could not follow Franklin D. Roosevelt. In 1940 there are many more. These men are honest and sincere individuals who will not compromise with their own ideals, who will not yield to the threats of the New Dealers. Many of them were to be made victims of the "purge" in 1938; but the purge was not a wild success, and, since that time, the line of demarcation between Democrat and New Dealer has grown clearer and clearer.

The Democrat who believes in honest American government in the American tradition can not stomach the New Deal. Franklin D. Roosevelt has undertaken many ventures, but he has succeeded in only one enterprise; he has succeeded in splitting his own party, the party that supported him in 1932. He is no longer leader of that party. He heads a strange, hybrid organization, part radical and part racketeer, that uses him as a symbol of past glory.

This party calls itself the New Deal, but it isn't new any more. In fact it has gone back hundreds of years for its conception of government, back to the idea of centralized control which used to be called tyranny. They call it "the divine right of Roosevelt."

Incompetence, extravagance and waste are not new. They are very, very old. It should not have been hard for the New Dealers to find another leader. Almost any man could run the government the way Franklin D. Roosevelt has run it. But Roosevelt, it must be admitted, has one remarkable and, for the New Dealers, indispensable quality. He can bewilder the people. It is easy enough to run the government to the verge of bankruptcy, to stifle business and shackle the initiative of a people, but it is not so easy to make them like it. Roosevelt crooned them into unconsciousness for two terms. The New Dealers are hoping against hope that he can do it again.

But he can't. For there is still a patriotic party in the United States. As Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Republican National Chairman, said at the McNary Notification Ceremony, in introducing Governor Stassen of Minnesota, "Today there is a new Republican party; a sound, sensible, forward-looking party to which the people of this country are turning for leadership."

Into this party the real Democrats and the Independents as well as the staunch Republicans are putting their faith and their efforts to restore and to revitalize America.

DEMOCRAT

Wendell Willkie's battle against the Tennessee Valley Authority is highlighted in the lead editorial of the current issue of "The Democratic Digest," published by the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee and circulated in all states.

Willkie has only one front left to lose in this battle, "The Big Front" that power has made of him in 1940," according to the publication. In an article, "Know the Issues: Power and the People," it is charged that corporate power achieved its own candidate for the Presidency in Mr. Willkie, former president of the Commonwealth and Southern, organized in 1929 by J. P. Morgan and Company.

"The trail Willkie left in the Tennessee Valley was one of sabotage and spite," says the article, which reviews testimony in court battles between Willkie and TVA and contends it shows that bullying, bribery and corruption were employed to swing elections against TVA, and always unsuccessfully.

"Farmers labelled as 'spite lines' the power lines built by Commonwealth and Southern Company crews rushing into territory where lines were being set up to serve farmers' cooperatives with TVA power," the article reads in part, and continues, "Local cooperatives kept Willkie linemen away from their poles with shotguns."

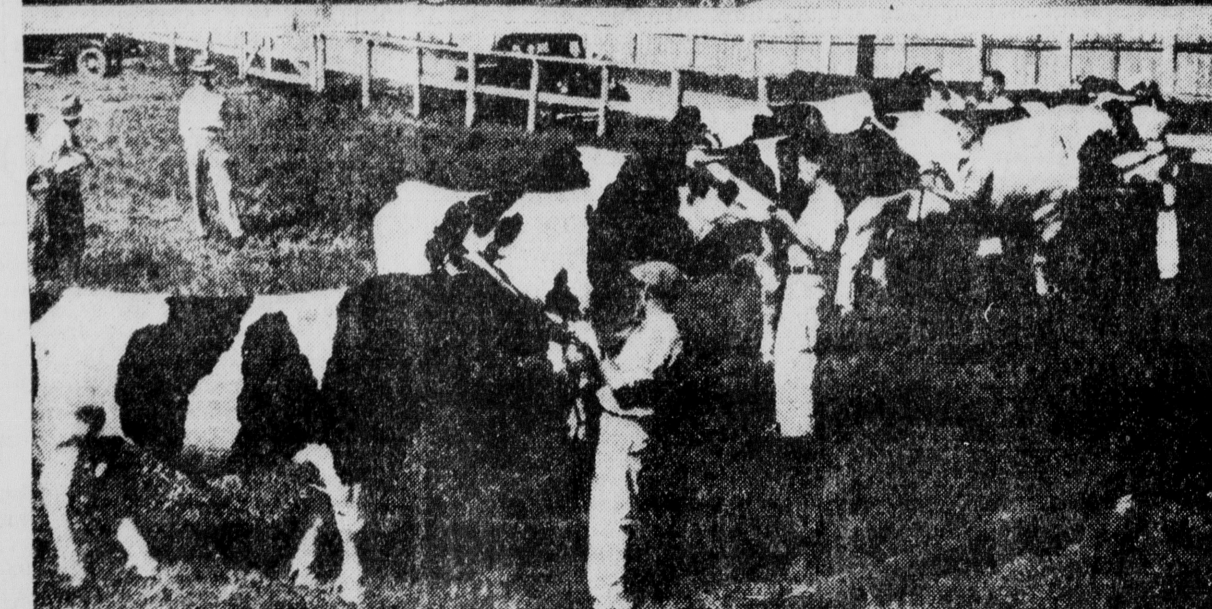

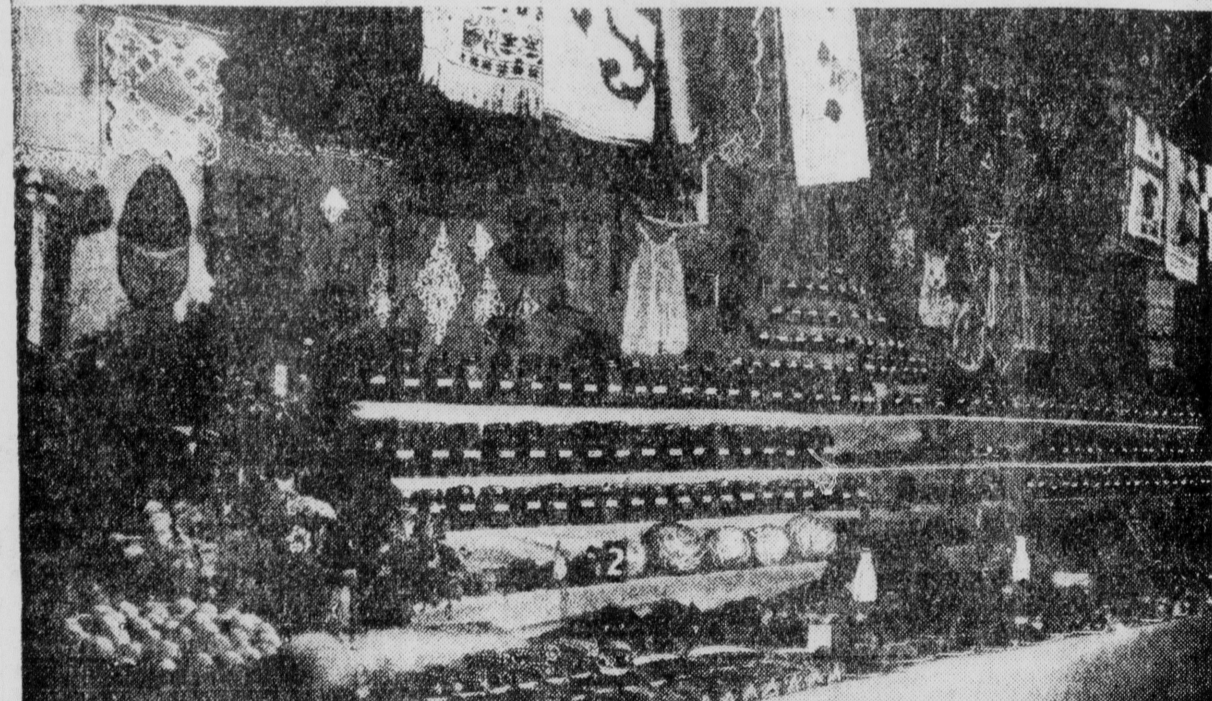

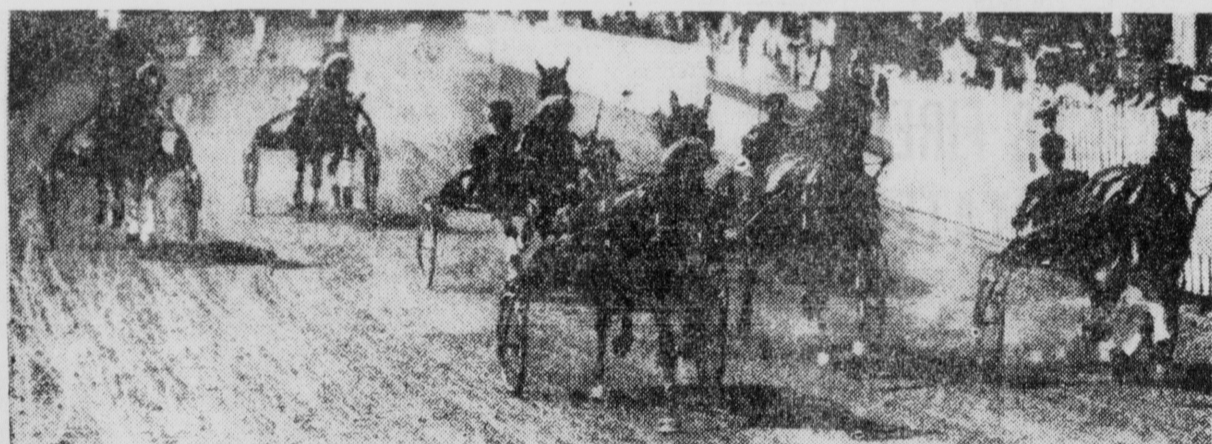

Spite line sprees failed but Willkie continued to fight with suits and injunctions, until the government, in order to proceed with its constructive program, bought the Willkie power properties in the valley.

"Willkie's asking price was 106 million dollars. TVA figured that a fairer price would be 57 million dollars. Eventually the government gave Willkie 78 million dollars and could probably have built a better system, brand new, for less," says the article in the Digest. "In the power fight the Willkie way is to build 'spite lines' to buy elections, to flout the freedom of the press . . ." the article contends.

Willkie admitted in TVA hearings that he sent $20,000 to Chattanooga, Tenn., prior to a TVA election, and said he wished he'd sent more. The article charges the money went to the Citizens and Taxpayers Association, which testimony showed was a bogus outfit organized by the Commonwealth and Southern.

It is reported that the airlines plan to organize their own air express company this summer, and will begin operations in January, 1941, when present contracts with the Railway Express Agency will be allowed to lapse.

"Heigh, Ho! Come to the Fair"

In many Pennsylvania communities the traditional county fair is under way during the late summer and early fall season. Above you see a snappy harness racing scene; in the center a display of hand-made articles, fruits and jellies—the pride of the housewife. Below a cattle judging scene.

RESTRICTED

Ducks and cows are owned and tended only by men on the island of Bali, while the women tend chickens and pigs. Though the women do the daily cooking, roast sucking pig and sea turtle dishes for banquets are prepared only by the men.

Airline travel for the first quarter of 1940 was approximately 65 per cent higher than for the same period of 1939.

DEBUNKED

Contrary to popular opinion, the bite of a black widow spider will not kill healthy human beings. It does cause severe pain and fever, however, and is enough to kill infirm people and guinea pigs.

Compulsory Training: Is It Necessary?

Questions and Answers on Subject Now
Being Debated in Congress

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special)—The bill for compulsory military training and service, now under consideration by Congress, takes cognizance of the Nazi-Fascist-Communist threat to individual freedom everywhere. It provides a means whereby the manpower of the country can be trained and mobilized to preserve peace and the American way of life.

The high points of the program are given in the following questions and answers:

Q. Why is selective training and service necessary?

A. The United States is threatened with aggression by mighty but impoverished dictator nations. Encircled by Nazi-Fascist-Communist legions 20,000,000 strong in Europe and Asia, the United States, with its vast natural resources and unparalleled industrial plant, is virtually defenseless from the military viewpoint. Our very wealth and that of other republics of the Western Hemisphere invite attack. Hitler must have the raw materials from this hemisphere if he is to achieve his dream of world domination, and he will fight for them if necessary.

Q. How can our defenses be expanded quickly to meet this threat?

A. The only answer is compulsory military training and service. The volunteer system has failed. Army recruiting program is lagging. The nation's industrial plant can be trusted with the job of building planes, guns, tanks and other materiel of war, but this part of the defense effort would be wasted unless sufficient manpower is trained to employ them efficiently.

Q. How would compulsory training be put into operation?

A. Under the original bill, every man between the ages of 18 and 64 would be enrolled. Those from 21 to 45 would be eligible for eight months training when called under the selective provisions of the bill. Those physically fit from 18 to 21 and 45 to 64 would be on call for training in home guard units.

Q. Does this mean that millions of men would be called out simultaneously, disrupting the nation's industrial and business life?

A. Emphatically, it does not. Through the selective provisions of the bill, every effort would be made to prevent disruption of the normal life of the country. Those needed more in industry, research, business and agriculture than in the combat forces would go into deferred classes. This also would apply, at least during peace times, to those with dependents.

Q. How many would be called for training?

A. This would be left to the determination of the President and the War and Navy Departments subject to or on motions made by Congress. Men would be called only as needed and in proportion to the material expansion of the defense equipment. There is no intention of pulling millions of men away from their jobs to have them train with brooms.

Q. Is compulsory training a move toward totalitarianism in this country?

A. It is not. The plan offers the only guarantee against aggression by dictator nations in the Western Hemisphere. In no other way can the necessary forces be mobilized and trained quickly. Instead of being totalitarian, the program is 100 per cent democratic.
